Each year the Utica Campus celebrates the School's birthday, Founded March 1903 by Dr. William H. Holtzclaw, the Utica Camput has survived under many adverse conditions and circumstances. The School's 86th Founder's Day was celebrated March 20 with Carmen Castilla as featured speaker. The annual assembly program was held in the J.D. Boyd Gymnasium.

Carmen Castilla delivered the keynote address celebrating the 86th anniversary of the Utica Campus.

Mr. Charles Bell explains the policies of the Utica Campus to visiting seniors during Senior Day.

Senior Day is set aside for local high school seniors to visit the Campus in an effort to assist them in making a wise college choice. The day's activities include a campus tour, a dramatics presentation, workshops, educational contests, a fashion show, and a dance. Each department also showcases its offering by means of exhibits. The school counselors are treated to a luncheon/workshop during the noon hour while the students have lunch on the lawn during performances from various Utica Campus groups.

Students listen to the many different cirricula the Utica Campus has to offer.

Faculty and former Utica Campus students address visiting counselors during the Senior Day Counselors' Luncheon.

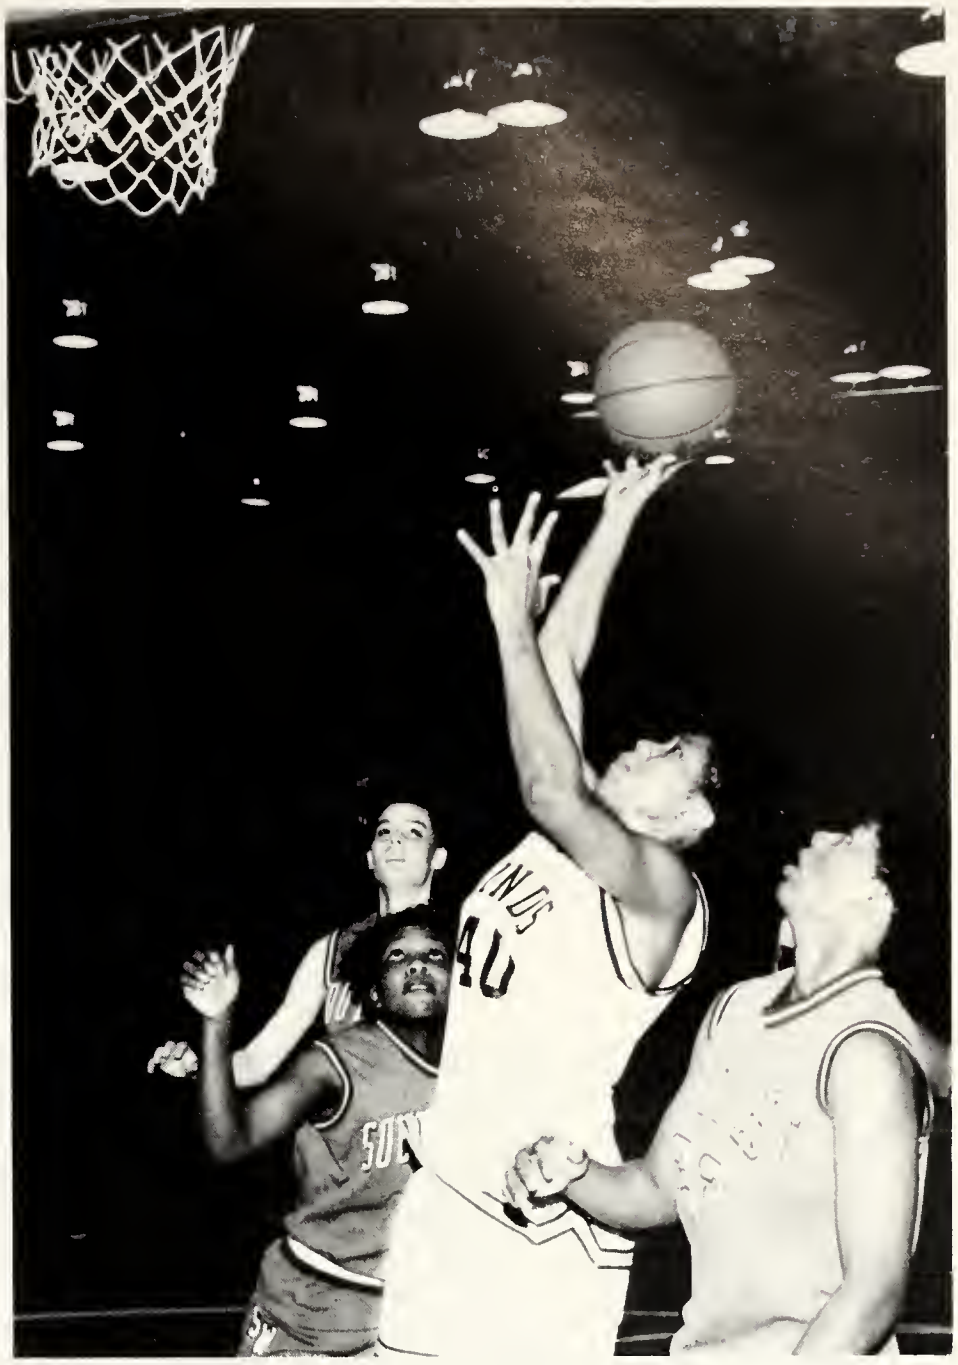
ATHLETICS

The Hinds soccer team knows that their playing abilities must be accompanied by winning attitudes.

The Hinds track team is no stranger to victory.

Who can better lift the spirits of the teams other than the cheerleaders.



The Lady Bulldogs are known state-wide for their highly competitive playing abilities.

Coach Murphy goes over the last play before halftime.

CURRICULA

"A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones together; a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing."

TIME FOR ACADEMICS

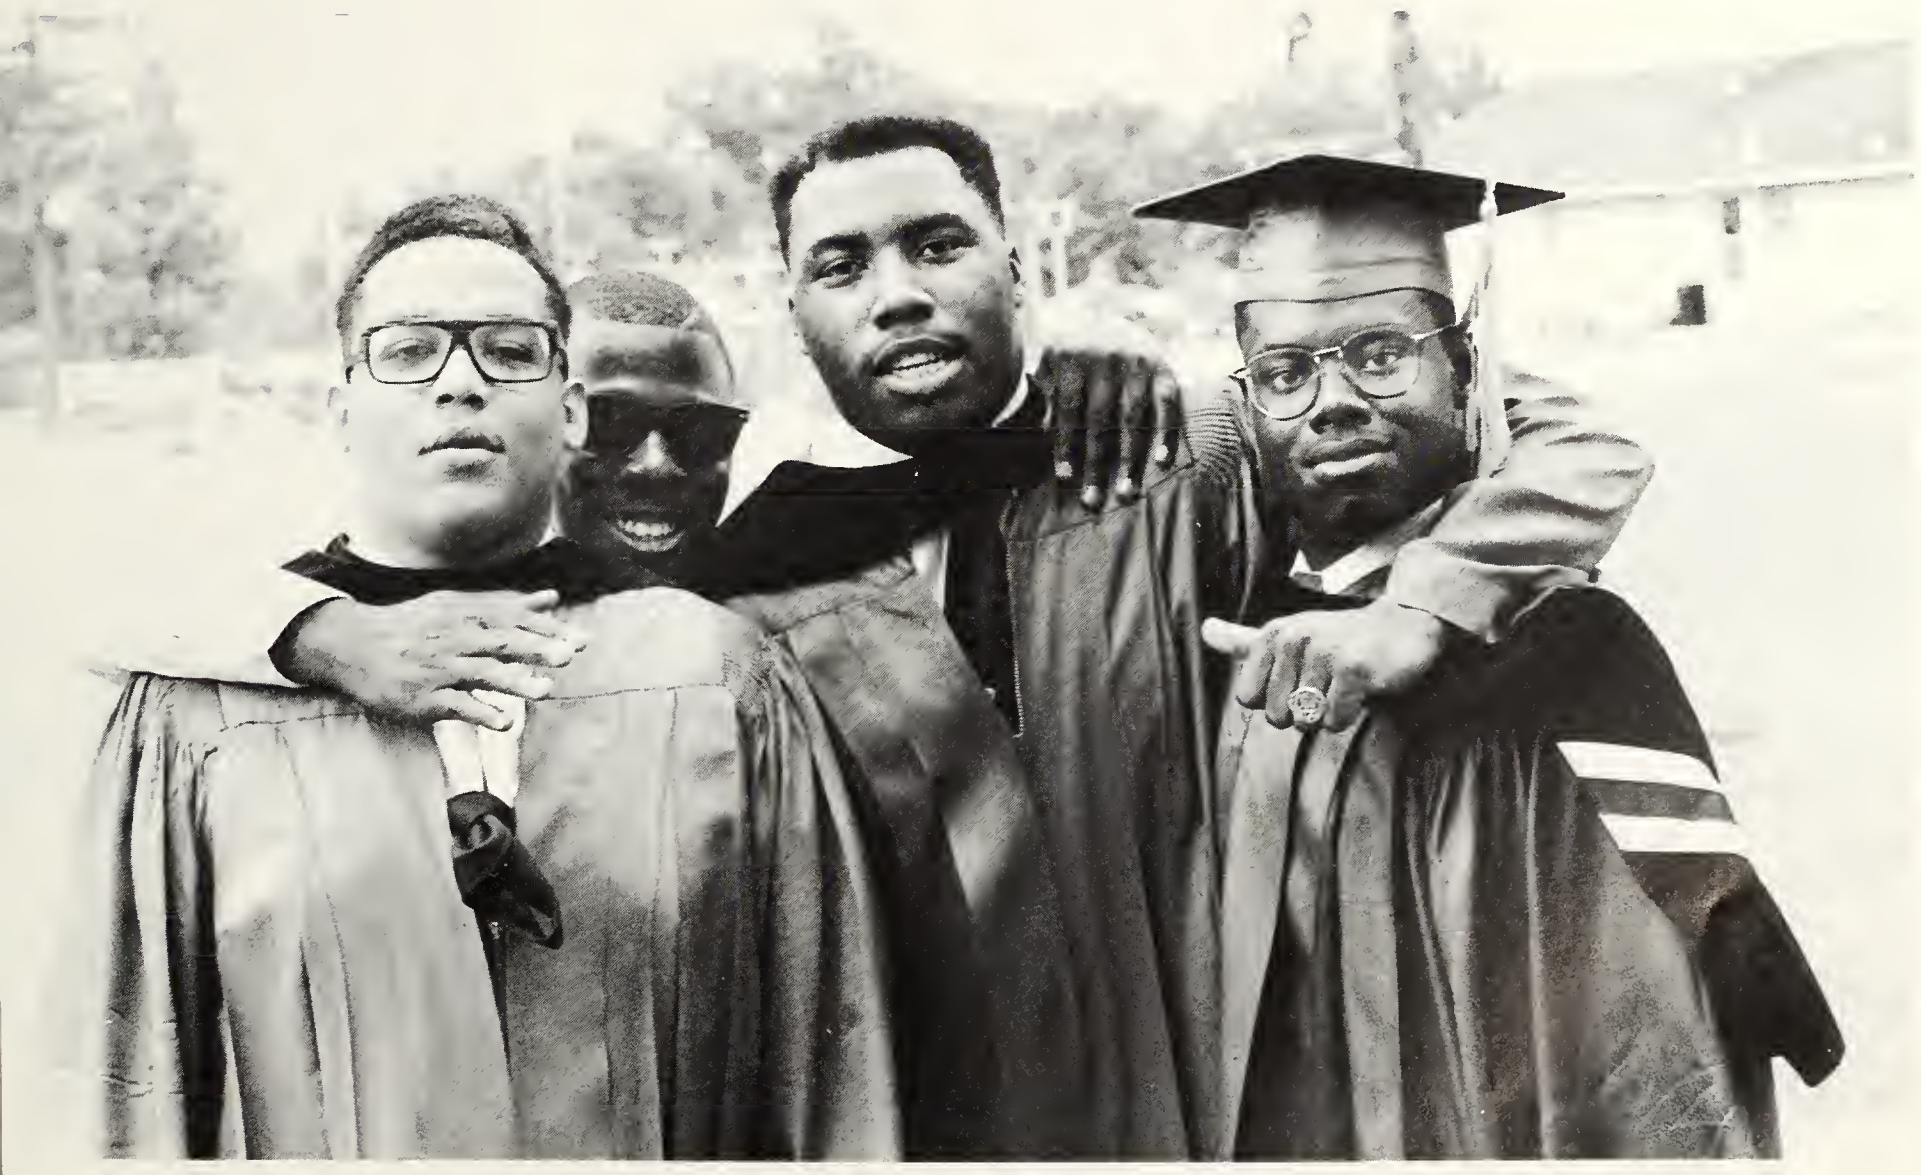
Many children between ages three and 12 look forward to the time when they become teenagers; having their own rooms, personal telephones, and other things acquired at their parents' expense. Suddenly, they are teenagers.

Still dissatisfied, they begin looking forward to the time when they get their own place, so to speak, and their own car. They aspire for "freedom", I believe it is referred to. Often times that freedom, or luxury if you may, is found on college campuses where educational training fills the air. But, there are those who sometime become overly excited about this new-found freedom and lose sight of their purpose or at least allow it to be side tracked.

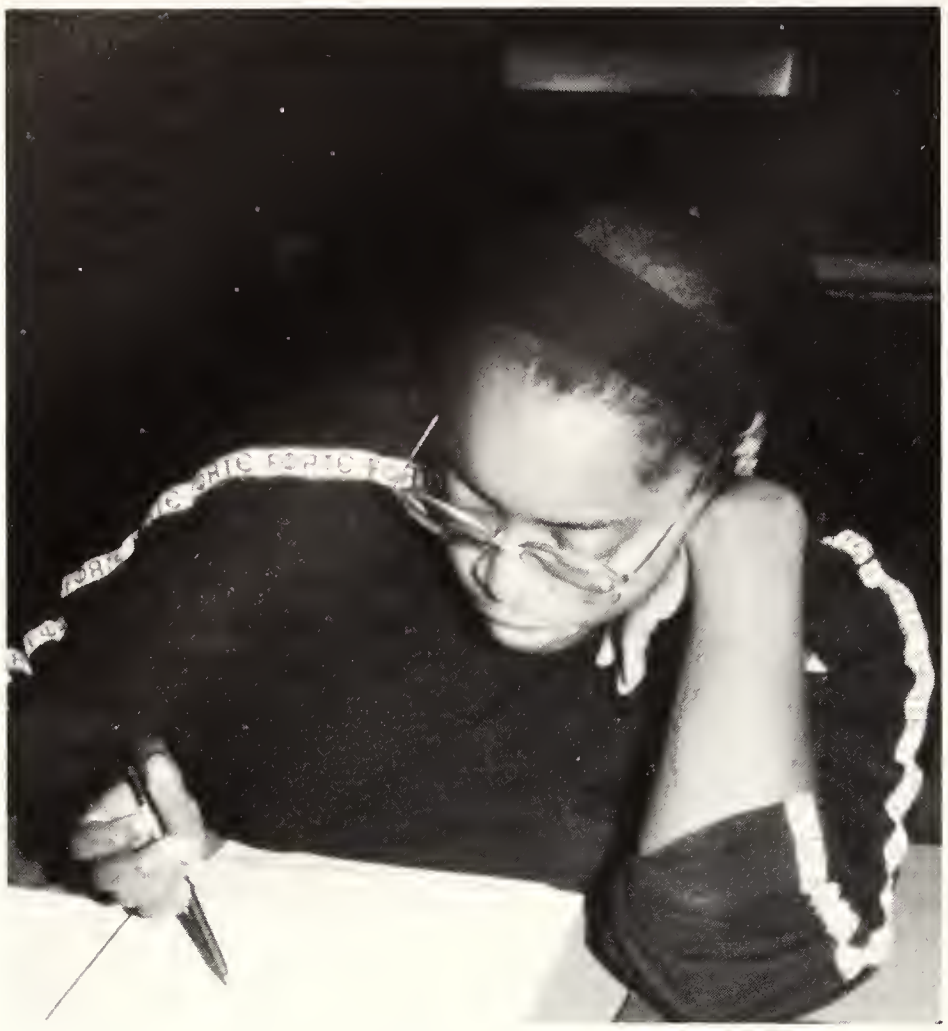
After a semester or two of academic failure and assumed "good times," thoughts are collected, values reassessed and students begin to realize that some of their better times — college days —are at hand.

Finally college life is hindsight; it's graduation time. The real world awaits. It's a different world that disregards distractions.

The Utica Campus faculty realizes the factors involved in the transition from high school to college, from home restrictions to dormitory freedom. Therefore, students are encouraged to refrain from idle time and embrace educational opportunities.

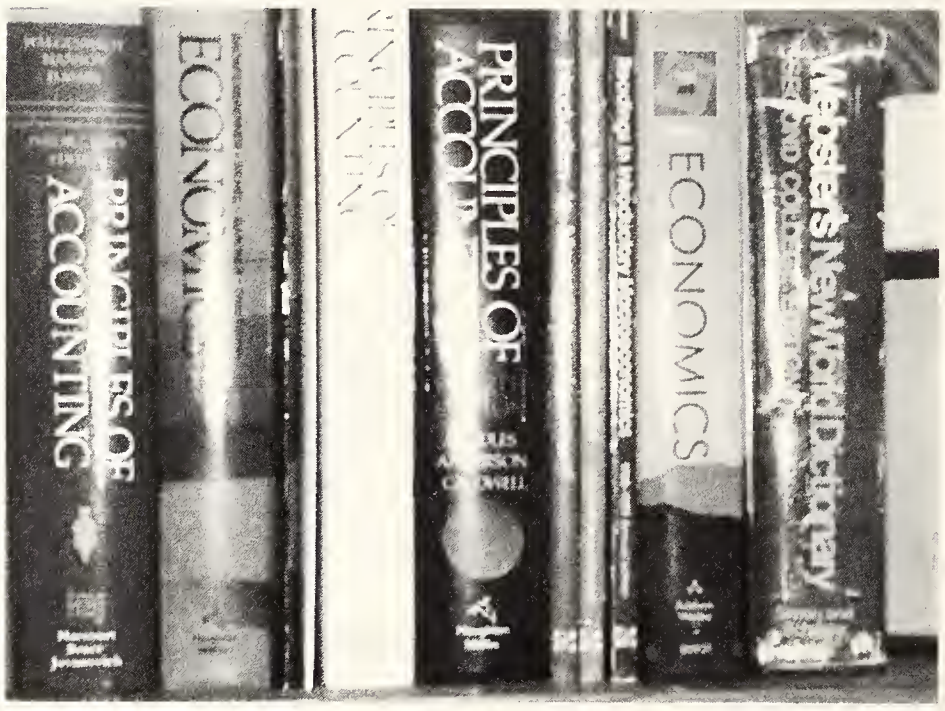


CURRICULA

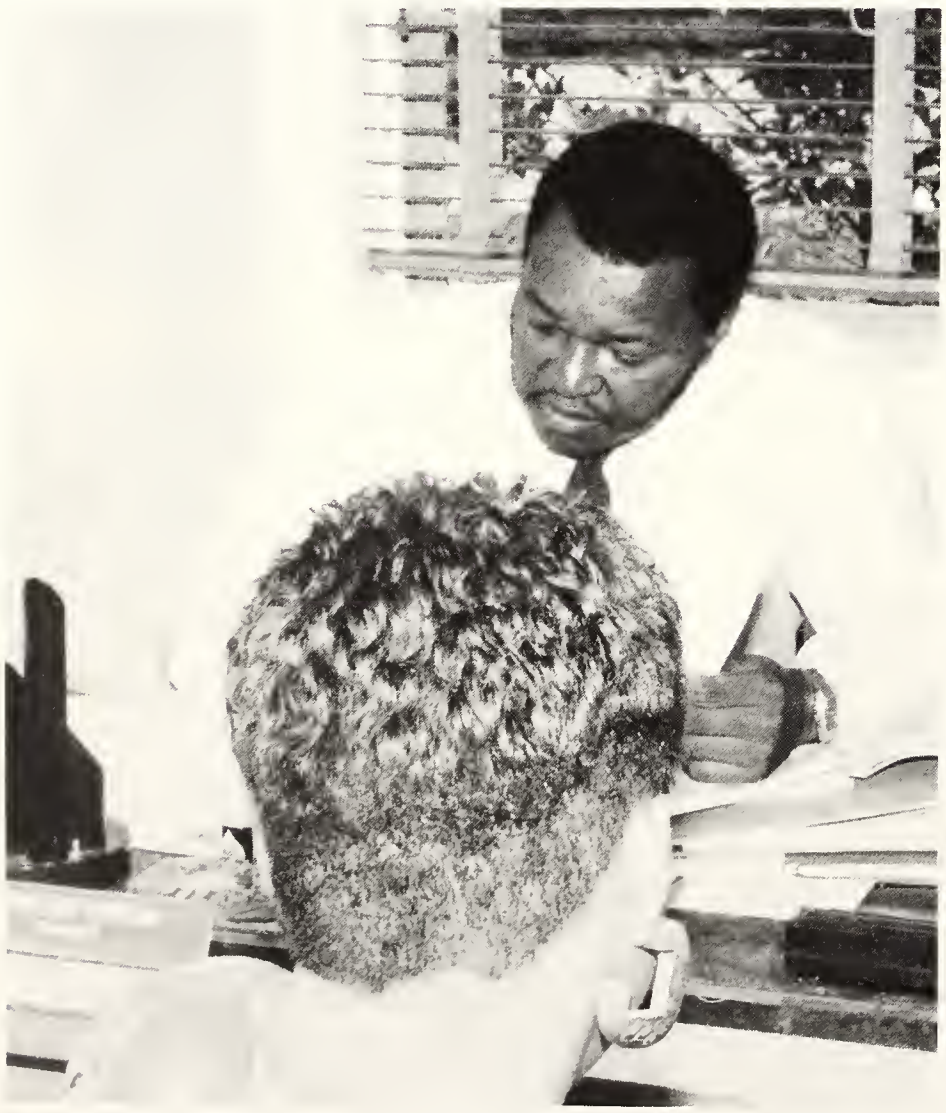


Jonita Green finds that the library is the best place to study.

Mrs. Yolanda Williams, computer science instructor, gives lecture on the rising demand for computer operators.



Mr. Seyed Darbandi, accounting and economics instructor, keeps extra books available for students.



Mr. Cornelius Horton, vocational counselor, assists student in completing class schedule.

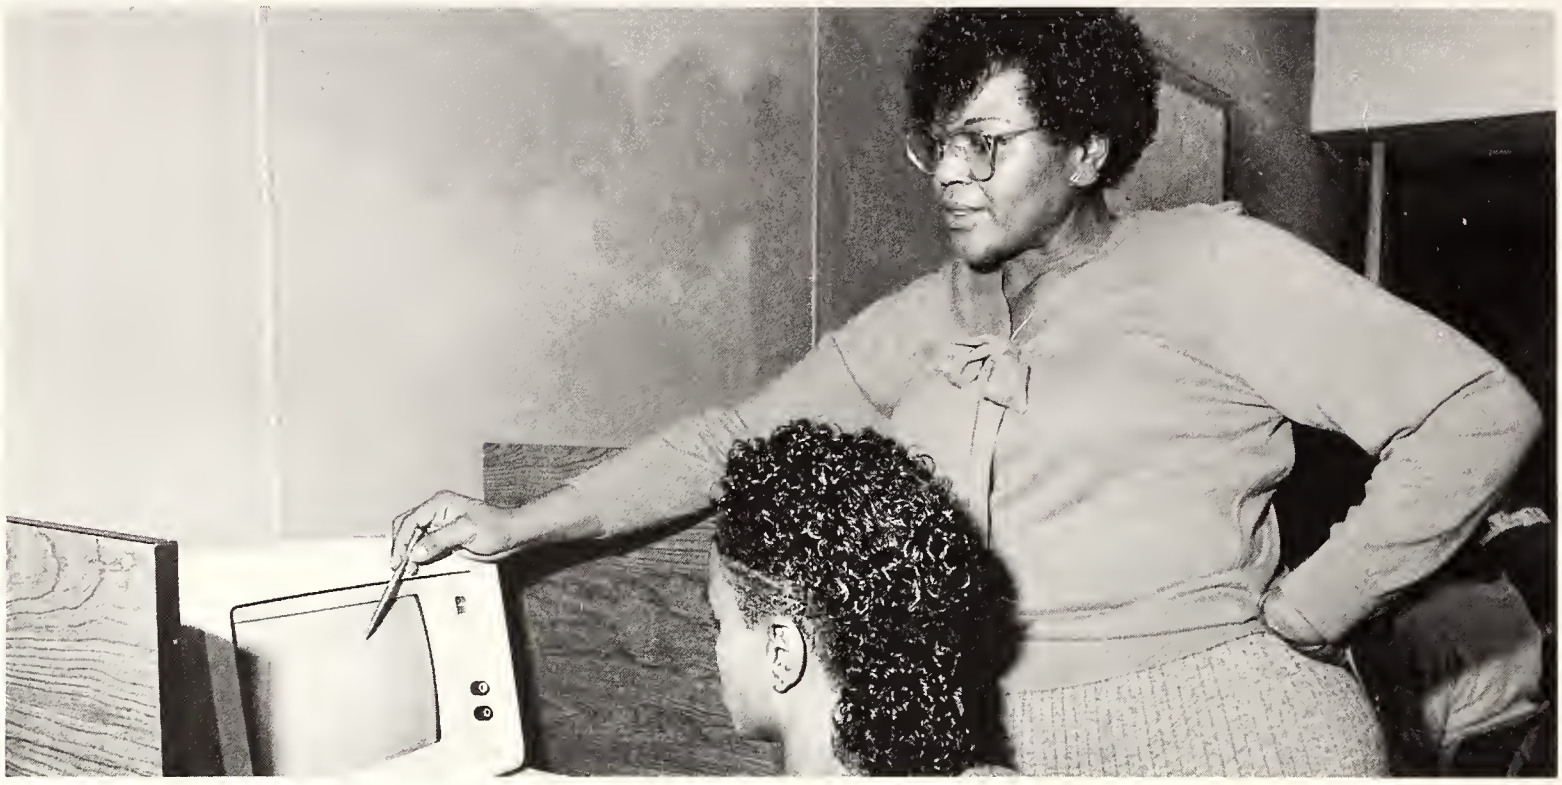
Open registration is a time for students to meet teachers, counselors, and other faculty members.

"Class attendance and participation are important parts of maintaining good grades," stresses Mrs. Williams.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Strong, registrar's assistant, and Dr. Eugene Gaston, dean of instruction, take time to enter all student schedules into the computer.

Mrs. Magnolia Hampton, English instructor, spends time grading papers.

CURRICULA



Dr. Jackson, math instructor, is always available to give students extra help.

Students are encouraged to take advantage of advanced registration to get the best selection of classes.

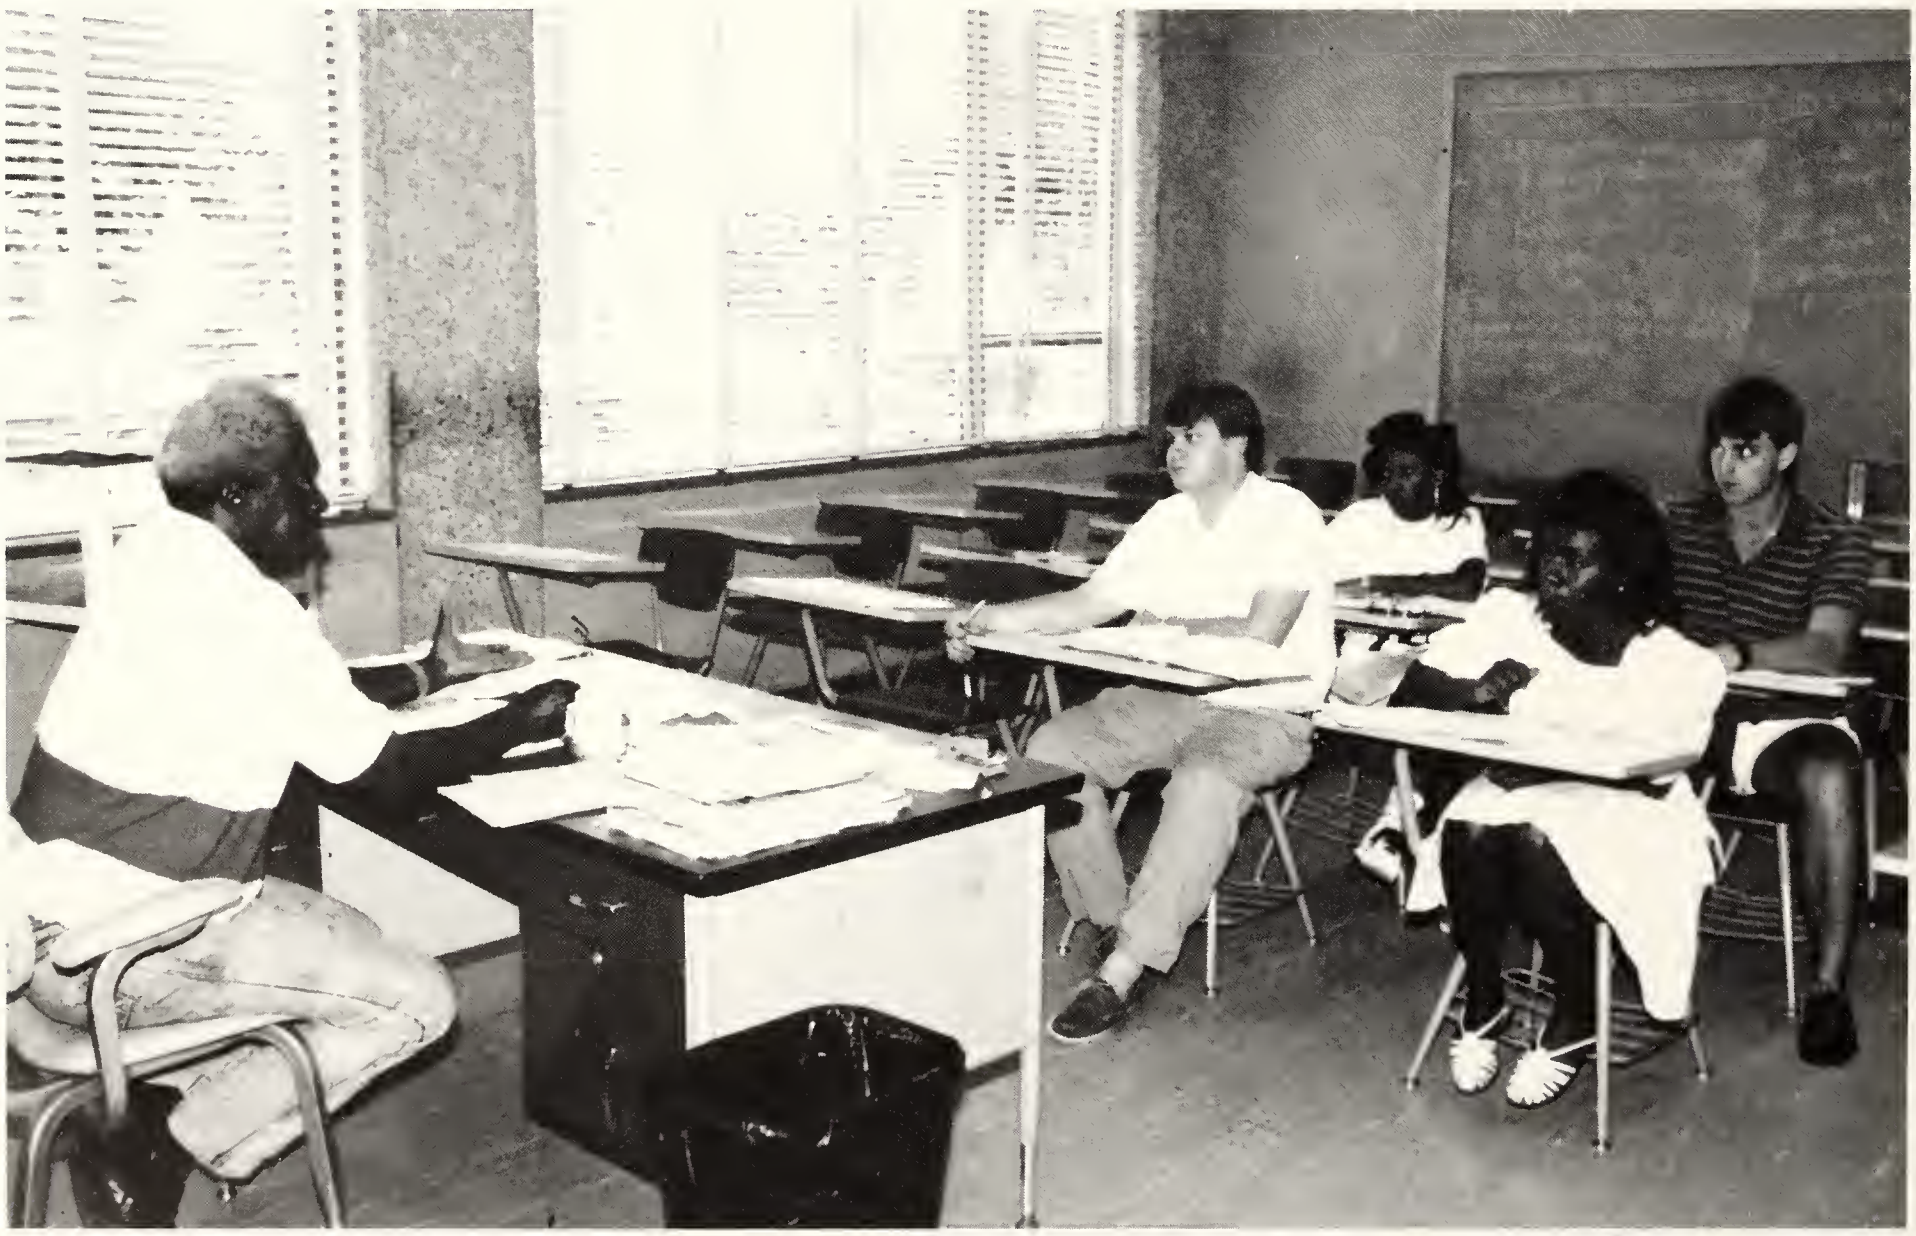
Patrice Andrews, secretary to the Dean of Vocational Education, spends her spare time improving her typing skills.

Many young men enter the trade, bricklaying, to become independent employers.

Food service majors often decorate cakes for special occasions at the school.

CURRICULA

Erica Petrus, secretary/dean of instruction, and Patrice Terrell, secretary of voc. education, work as data entry clerks during registration.



Mr. James Jordan, social science instructor, is known for capturing the attention of his students by keeping current on world affairs and presenting those issues in a unique manner.

Students are sometimes caught not paying attention in class.

Mr. Terry Collins, math instructor, often offers one-on- one assistance.

According to students, the library is the best place to spend their spare time.

Food service majors get hands-on experience in working with the public.

CURRICULA

Auto mechanic majors get the opportunity to prove what they have learned. Hands-on experience is their best teacher.

Mr. James Battle, upward bound instructor, offers a few helpful hints before administering an exam.

Welding majors spend their spare time perfecting their ability to do various kinds of welding.

Mrs. Bishop, financial officer, explains to Dwayne that he must have his fee sheet before having his I.D. validated.

Mrs. Barbara Stokes, upward bound instructor, explains the importance of following directions.

Ms. Ellestine Turner, registrar, and Mrs. Gwendolyn Strong, registrar's assistant, review admission applications.

CURRICULA

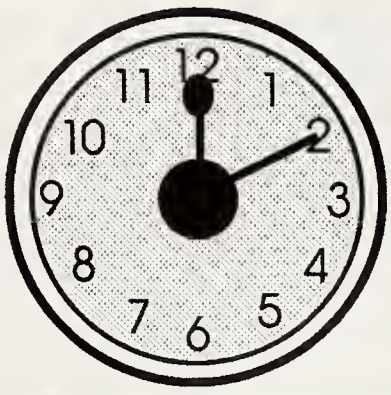
Group discussions have been proven to help students' grades.

Mr. Floyd Tate, sociology instructor, makes sure Marcus gets the classes he needs to graduate.

Mrs. Daniel and Mr. Bell take a moment to discuss Mr. Bell's new recruiting material.

Dr. Eugene Gaston, dean of instruction, and Mrs. Mary Thompson, business instructor, assist student in working out class schedule.

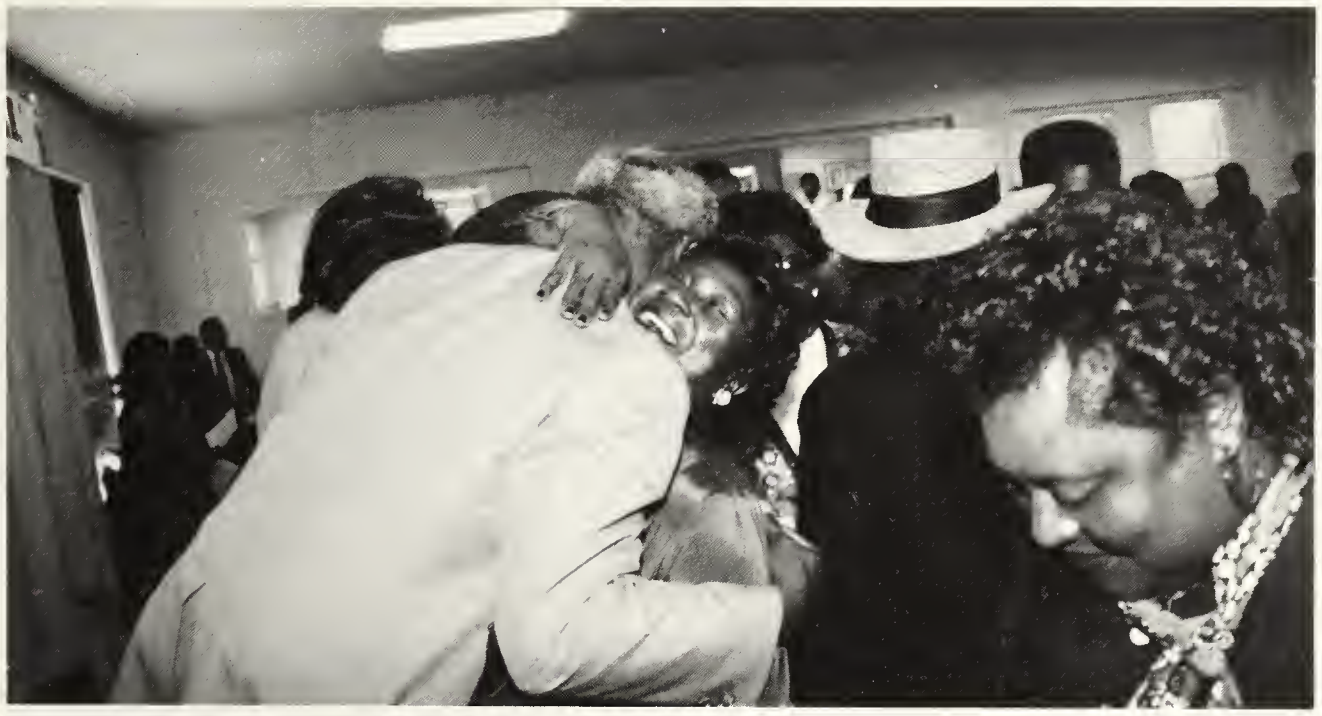
Mrs. Juanita Smith, food service instructor, makes sure that everyone is served.



EVENTS

A time to rend, and a time to sew; time to keep silence, and a time to speak.

The Utica Campus curricula include programs beyond the academic, technical and vocational spectrum. It also offers a wholesome blend of social, cultural, and enrichment programs. The entire curricula (academics and activities) are structured with the belief that everything students learn or are exposed to is a part of their education.



HONORS AND AWARDS

April 5, 1990 was a day of recognition for those students who had excelled during the academic year. This day was set aside in honor of President Scholars, Dean Scholars, Division Scholars, Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges and outstanding club participants.

The speaker for this occasion was Ms. Carmen Castilla, Esq., Chairperson of the State Parole Board.

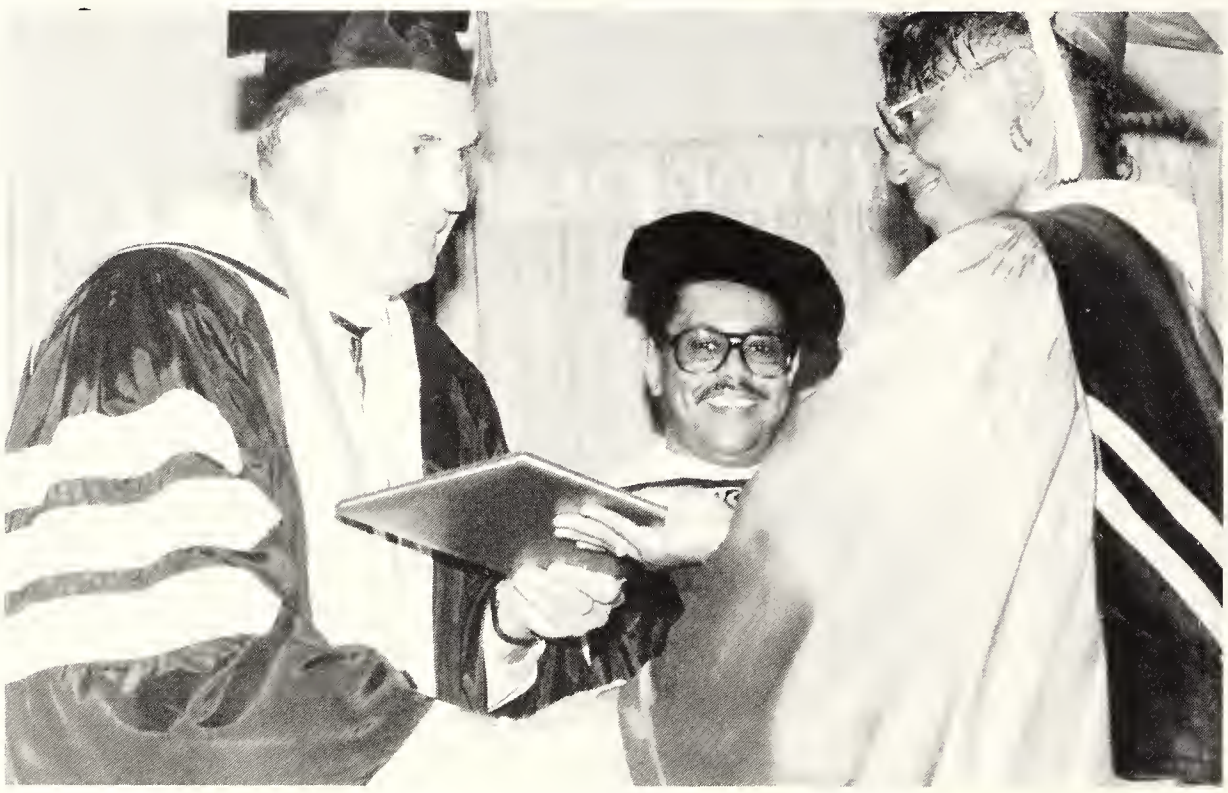
Sandra Williams was recognized for her contribution as editor of The Uticanite.

Tonya Graham was awarded for her academic accomplishments.

SPRING COMMENCEMENT

Graduation is a special time for students, parents and friends. Students are rewarded for their many years of hard work. Graduation exercises for the class of 1990 was held May 20, 1990 in the J.D. Boyd Gymnasium. One hundred thirty-one college scholars received degrees in the vocational, academic, and technical areas.

The keynote speaker was United States Representative Mike Espy, the School's 87th Commencement Speaker.

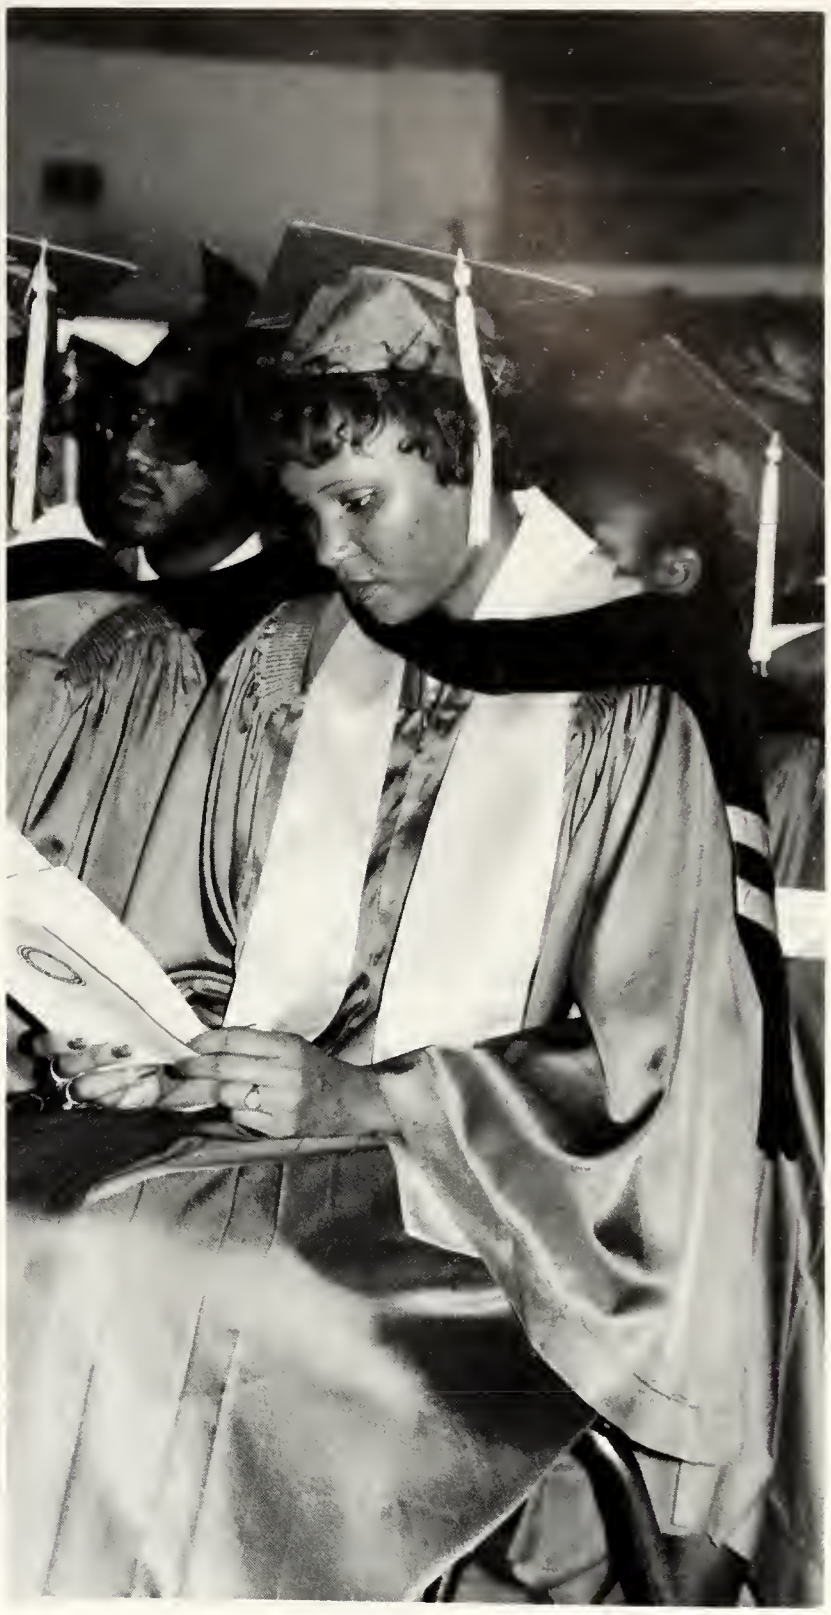


Gela Rhodes is given her key to the future by Hinds Community College President Dr. Clyde Muse.

Michelle Welch is eager to begin her future endeavors, having graduated "Academic Student of the Year."

Graduates and well-wishers listen attentively to Congressman Espy as he tells of specific skills necessary for the future.

Mary Walker, Angela Barlow, and Valerie Barnes say, "We are finally finished."



Patricia Thomas peruses the Commencement Program prior to ceremony beginning.

LaJune Pendleton receives her diploma from Dr. Muse.

Savita Singleton, cosmetology graduate, prepares to receive her diploma.

Phi Theta Kappa represents students who strive for academic excellence. The members of Phi Theta Kappa, Alpha Beta Xi Chapter participate in community service projects, attend national meetings, and offer volunteer services in tutorial programs.

The 1990-91 inductees are Shirley Wilson, Sandra Williams, Veronica McClain, Sanita Malone, Kimberly Carter, Renee Taylor (row 2) Dianne Washington, Jana Henderson, Annie Gordon, Edna Frazier and Sherry Murray.

Michelle Welch delivered the occasion at the initiation ceremony.

Trenton Wynn and Patricia Thomas dazzled the crowd with their melodious rendition of "If You Say My Eyes Are Beautiful."

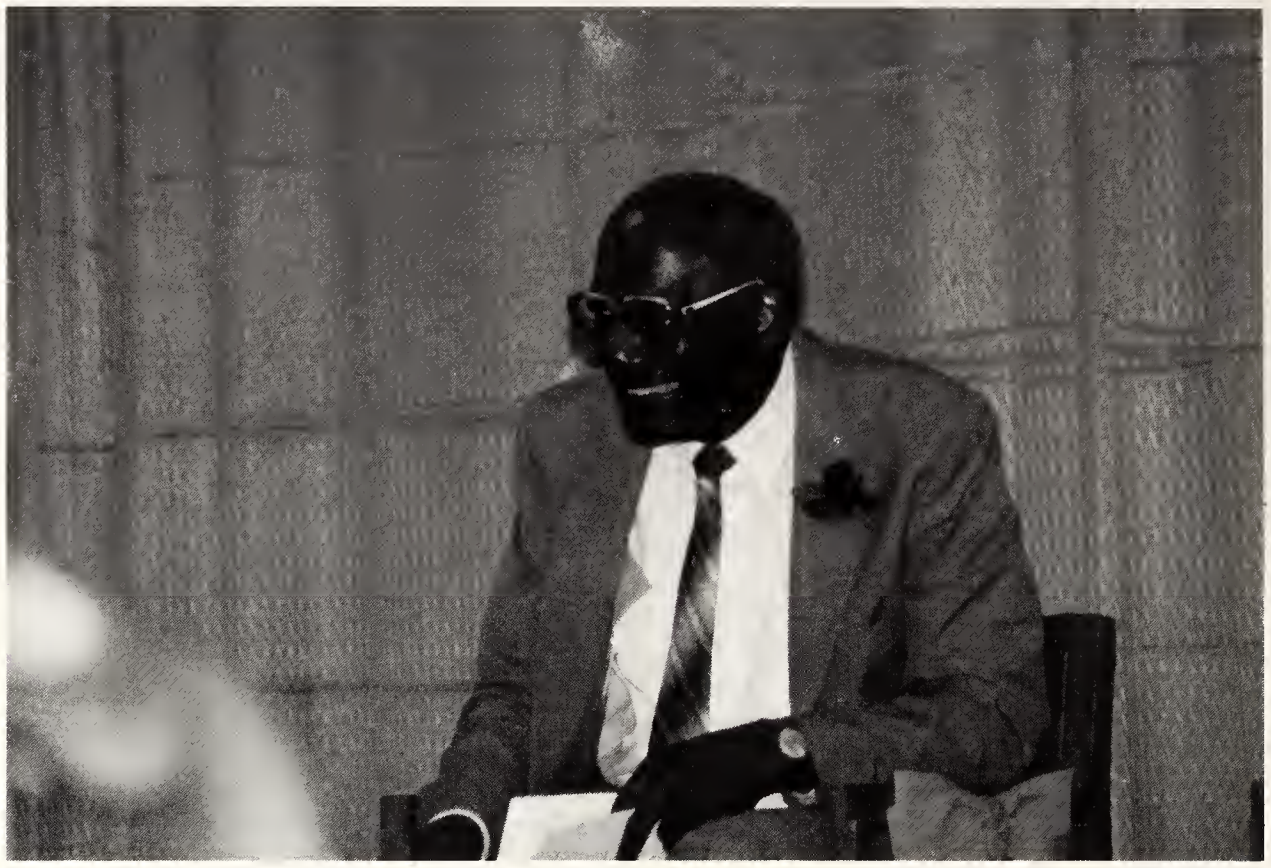
Ruth Batton Campbell was the guest speaker for this occasion.

Phi Theta Kappa members pause for the camera after the initiation ceremony.

TIME

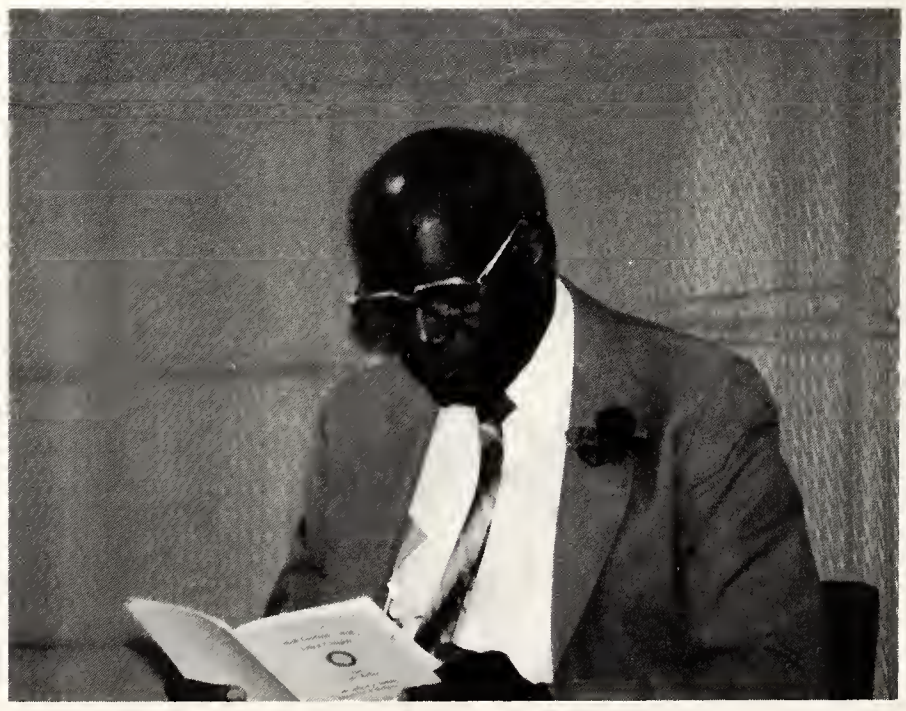
FAREWELL TO A LEGEND

"If you are not here for business, you have no business here," says Mr. Johnny Joseph Halsell. Throughout his service to education he stressed the importance of learning. May 9, 1990, the Utica Campus honored Mr. Johnny Halsell for 38 years of service. In his lifetime of teaching, he taught more than 10,000 students. His students, employed throughout the nation, respect him for his ability to teach mathematics and for his practical guidance and his firm advice and encouragement.



Well wishers mingle after the program.

Mr. Halsell is greeted by Dr. Walter Washington, president of Alcorn State University and former president of Utica Junior College.



Dr. George Barnes, vice president of the Utica Campus, delivered tributory remarks on behalf of the Utica Campus/Administrative Services.

Dr. Mae C. Jackson, mathematics instructor, presents a plaque inscribed with Mr. Halsell's favorite saying, "If you are not here for business, you have no business here."

Dr. Jackson also presents Mr. Halsell with a piece of framed artwork.

Mr. Halsell is greeted by former student, John Owens, Jackson Police Officer.

MODEL OF THE YEAR

The Annual Model of the Year pageant was held Thursday Dec. 6, 1990 in the J.D. Boyd Gymnasium. Sophomore clothing and textile majors, nursery school students, and faculty, modeled formal attire, and casual wear. The contestants were Elizabeth Gibson, Ann Paige, Cheryl Parker, Felicia Myles, Sherry Anderson, and Kela Horton.

Mr. Rick Porter and Dr. Bobby Cooper were commentators for the annual affair.

Mrs. Ann Harper, librarian, modeled formal wear for the winter season.

Mrs. Willie Burnley, cosmetology instructor, demonstrated the proper way to wear a fur.

Helen Williams, freshman clothing and textile major, gets an opportunity to practice for next year's pageant.

Mrs. Walker, cafeteria employee, was responsible for the contestants make-up.

James Shears entertained the audience with a medley of songs.

The Annual Thanksgiving Dinner was held November 25, 1990, in the J.D. Boyd Gymnasium. This year's dinner hosted the largest crowd ever with over 500 people in attendance.

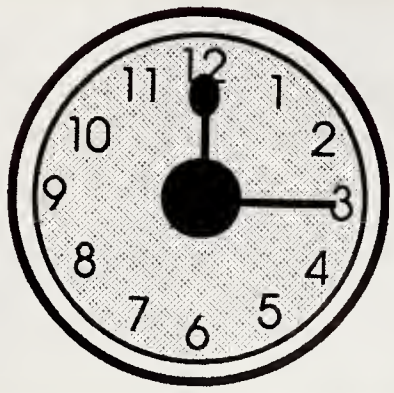
Dr. M.K. Nelson, Pastor of Friendship Missionary Baptist Church, Edwards, Mississippi, Pleasant Hill Missionary Baptist Church, Bolton, Mississippi, and Morning Star Missionary Baptist Church, Jackson, Mississippi, was the keynote speaker for the annual event.

The Utica Campus Faculty Ensemble performed a gospel tune entitled "The Blood," lead by Mrs. Shirley Mason, business administration instructor.

Dr. Clyde Muse, President of Hinds Community College, was one of the many guests in attendance at the dinner.

Dr. George Barnes, Utica Campus Vice President, welcomed visitors and friends to the Campus before parting with a bit of humor.

The dinner ended with a Congregational hymn, "We Gather Together."



CLUBS AND ORGANIZATIONS

"A time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted"

Most Utica Campus students hold membership in at least one club or organization. It is the attraction of working with a group toward a common goal that drives most students to become club members or team leaders. Well, there is also that distant feeling of family togetherness found within Utica Campus clubs that forever beckons "home."

THE PLAY

The Gift of the Magi is a short story by O'Henry. Containing perhaps the most famous of O'Henry's trick endings, this Yuletide narrative tells how a nearly penniless young husband and wife are each determined to buy the other a suitable Christmas present. He sells his watch to buy her a set of combs; she has her beautiful hair cut off and sells the tresses to buy him a watch fob.

FEATURES

"A time to get, and a time to lose; a time to keep, and a time to cast away."

The Uticanite family works in harmony throughout the year in its drive for achievement. This section features many of the 1990-91 academic achievers. Each of the representatives in this section was selected on his/her own merits through academics and/or student popularity. The competition was stiff, but these students reign as true winners. The honors bestowed upon this select group of students are usually memories that last a life-time.

The annual Coronation Ball and Homecoming Parade was celebrated October 18 and 19. The Ball began at 8:00 P.M. and was held in the J.D. Boyd Gymnasium. The Highlight of the evening was the crowning of Mr. and Miss Utica Campus, Aaron Branch and Angela Harris, and Mr. and Miss Hinds AHS, Lula Barnes and Michael Fultz. Approximately 75 club representatives participated. The parade began at 2:30 P.M. in downtown Utica. Bands, drill and dance teams, and decorative cars and floats adorned the streets in the festive event. The theme for the school's 87th Homecoming celebration was "Here and Now".

ALUMNUS OF 1911

Mr. Leonard Bell

Mr. Leonard Bell still recalls the incidents of 1911-1912 at the Utica Normal Industrial Institute, now the Utica Campus.

Born in 1896 in Meridan, MS, Mr. Bell later moved to Summit, MS, and now resides in Tucson, Arizona with his son David. The son of a Methodist minister, his family consisted of ten children; he is the last of six boys.

"When I came to Utica, I had been told of opportunities Mr. William H. Holtzclaw were providing for Blacks. He was one of the smartest educators I had ever spoken to. I had no one to help me so Mr. Holtzclaw was like a father to me," said Mr. Bell.

Pictured with Mr. Bell, right, are (left to right) son, David Smith and friend, Mrs. Eddie Mae Jackson, former Utica Junior College English instructor.

Mrs. Annie Harper, librarian, entertains Mr. Bell with pictures from the archives of Dr. Holtzclaw and former graduates.

"The dormitory for the students was four first-class box cars that they slept in: four connected for the boys and four for the girls."

"My purpose was to get a job," states Mr. Bell. "I was interested in cooking." Mr. Bell worked his way through school as a cook in the cafeteria in 1911-1912.

"Students had to follow orders or take severe punishment from Mr. Holtzclaw. There were no written rules; students did as they were advised. He would give you things to do and later check to see if you accomplished them," he proclaimed.

To young people, he says, "We are not free. Whites do not want to give us a chance and we should not be complacent. I had nothing and I wanted to get my mind together. Whites have always had a chance, but Blacks have not."

Mr. Bell concludes, "Father time has crept upon me. I advise all Blacks to want to learn and to work hard at doing it."

STUDENT LIFE

"A time to weep, and a time to laugh; a time to mourn, and a time to dance."

Traveling various distances to the school of your choice is an experience in itself. The premiere of the Utica Campus is the betterment of human lives through education. However, it is our belief that everything one learns in college is a part of their education. So, it is from that thought that the administration and students work together to plan wholesome, cultural, entertaining, and educational activities.

VICE PRESIDENT FOR UTICA CAMPUS
ADMINISTRATIVE AND STUDENT SERVICES

Fellow Uticanites:

As we embark upon the decade of the 90's, I take pride in extending greetings to you through this outstanding publication.

Although the previous decade has truly been one of continuous development and magnanimous advancement for the Utica Campus, this new decade is slated to be one of continued academic and physical growth. Our intent to provide quality education is evident in our undying attempt to keep abreast of the latest innovations, techniques and approaches which make our facilities more conducive for learning.

We have a positive outlook for this institution and hope that through the pages of The Uticanite you can find vivid evidence of our quest for excellence and our progressive thrust into the 90's. Congratulations to the Yearbook Staff for a job well done in capturing the spirit and essence of our institution.

Respectfully yours,

George E. Barnes

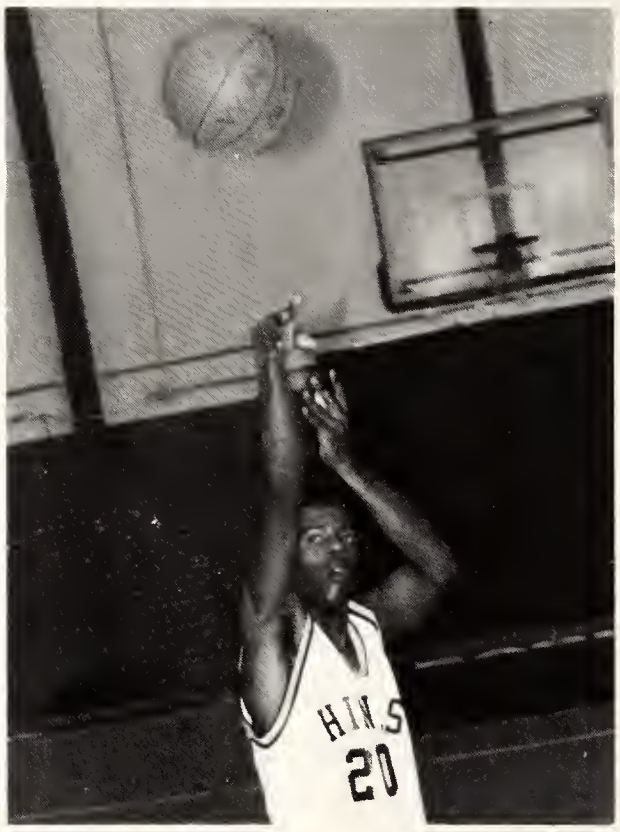
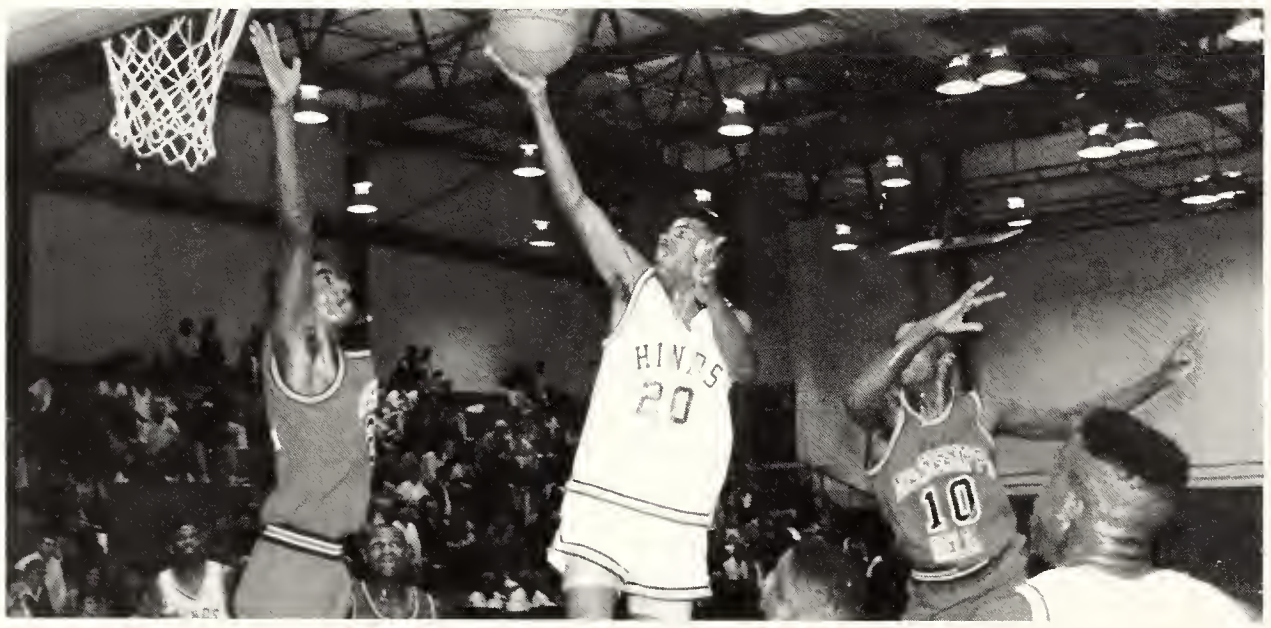
ATHLETICS

"A time to kill, and a time to heal; a time to break down and a time to build up."





Whenever a Hinds athletic team takes the field, floor, court, or course, the opponents know that a win is not going to come easy nor without a fight. Many of the nine athletic teams hold state or regional championships. They play with authority and death defiant techniques. So, when the game is over, the Hinds team stands tall, stands strong.

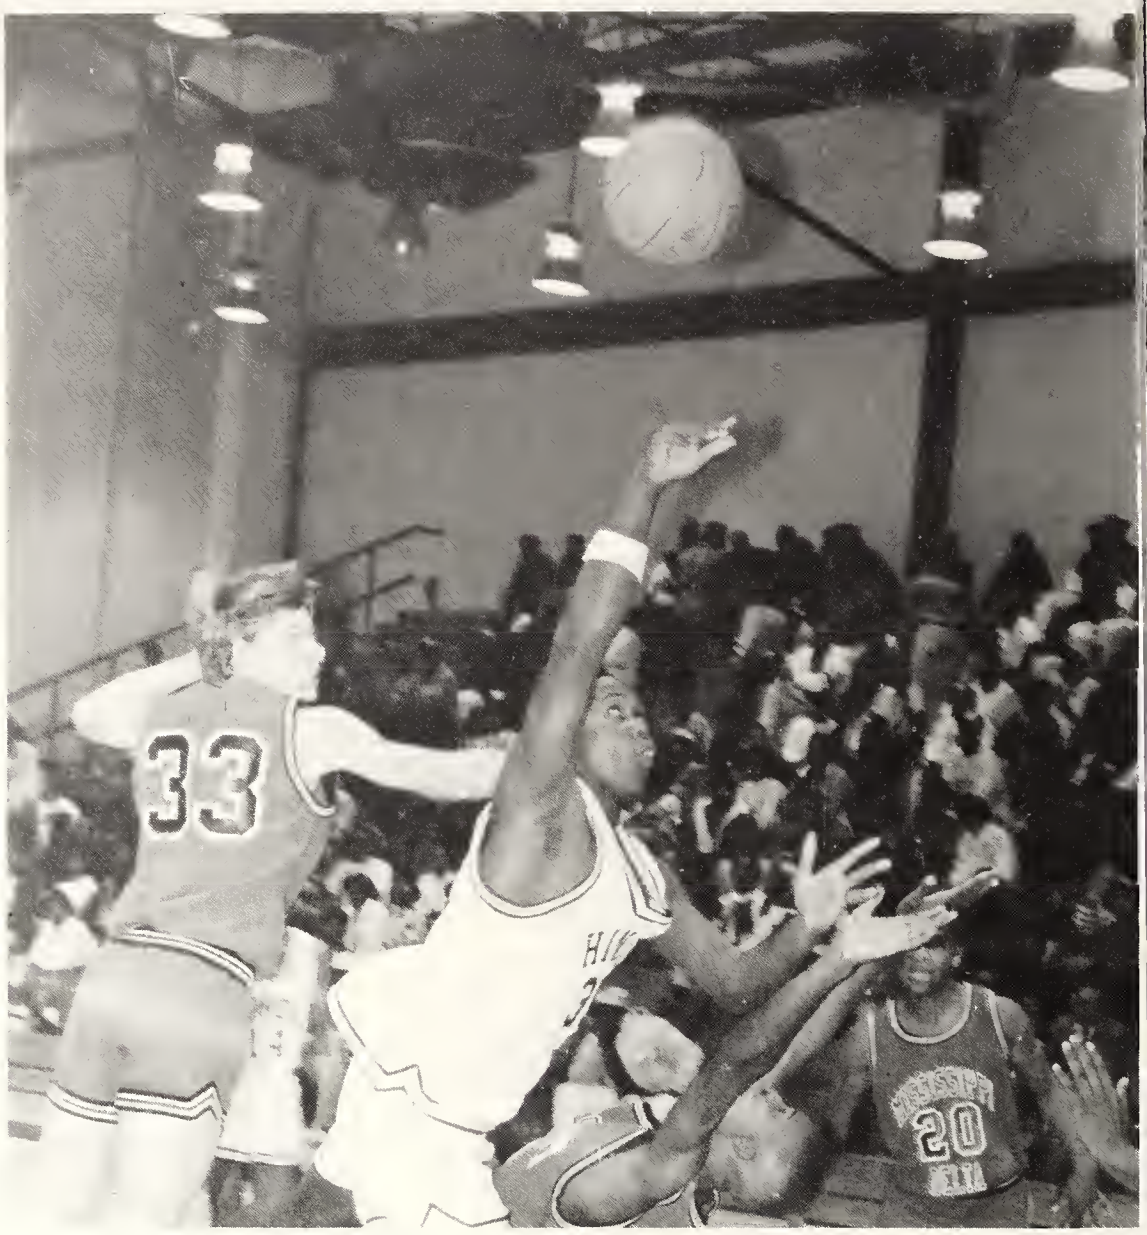
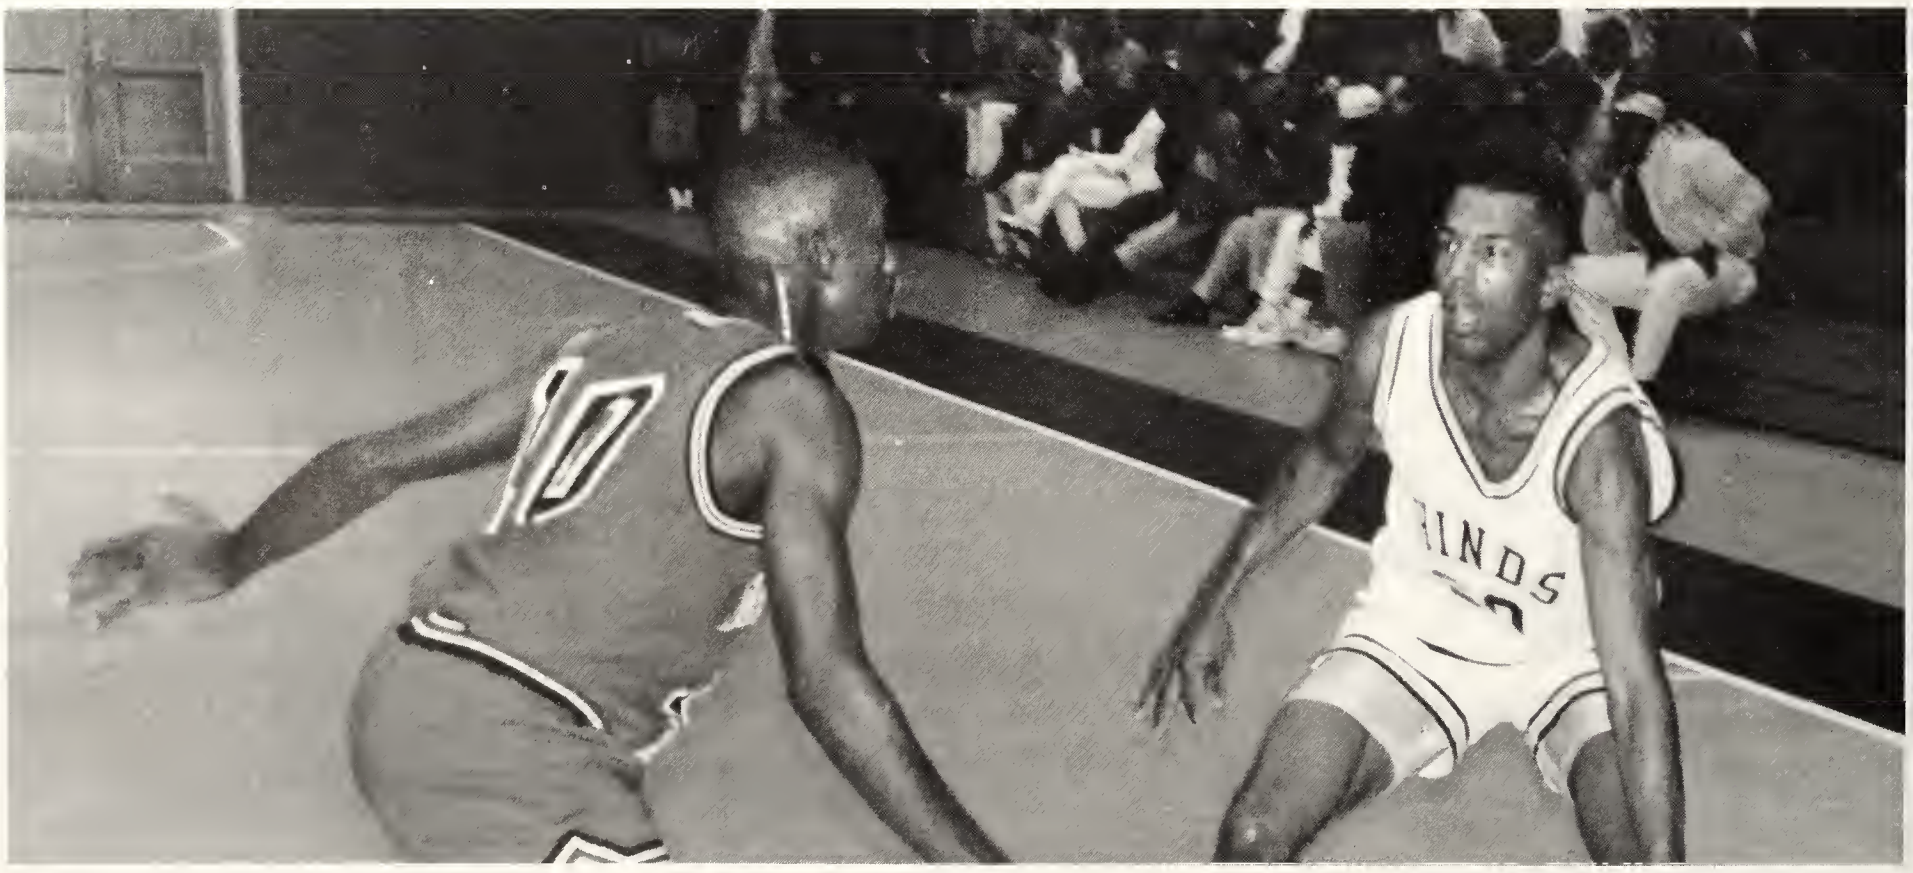
BULLDOGS vs MISSISSIPPI DELTA

The night was Thursday, November 29. The Bulldogs came out with a winning attitude. After getting off to a bad start earlier in the season they knew exactly what had to be done to win the game. As both teams warmed up, it was obvious that this would be an interesting game. However, the Bulldogs were confident that the game would end in their favor.



Michael Thompson will do anything for two points.

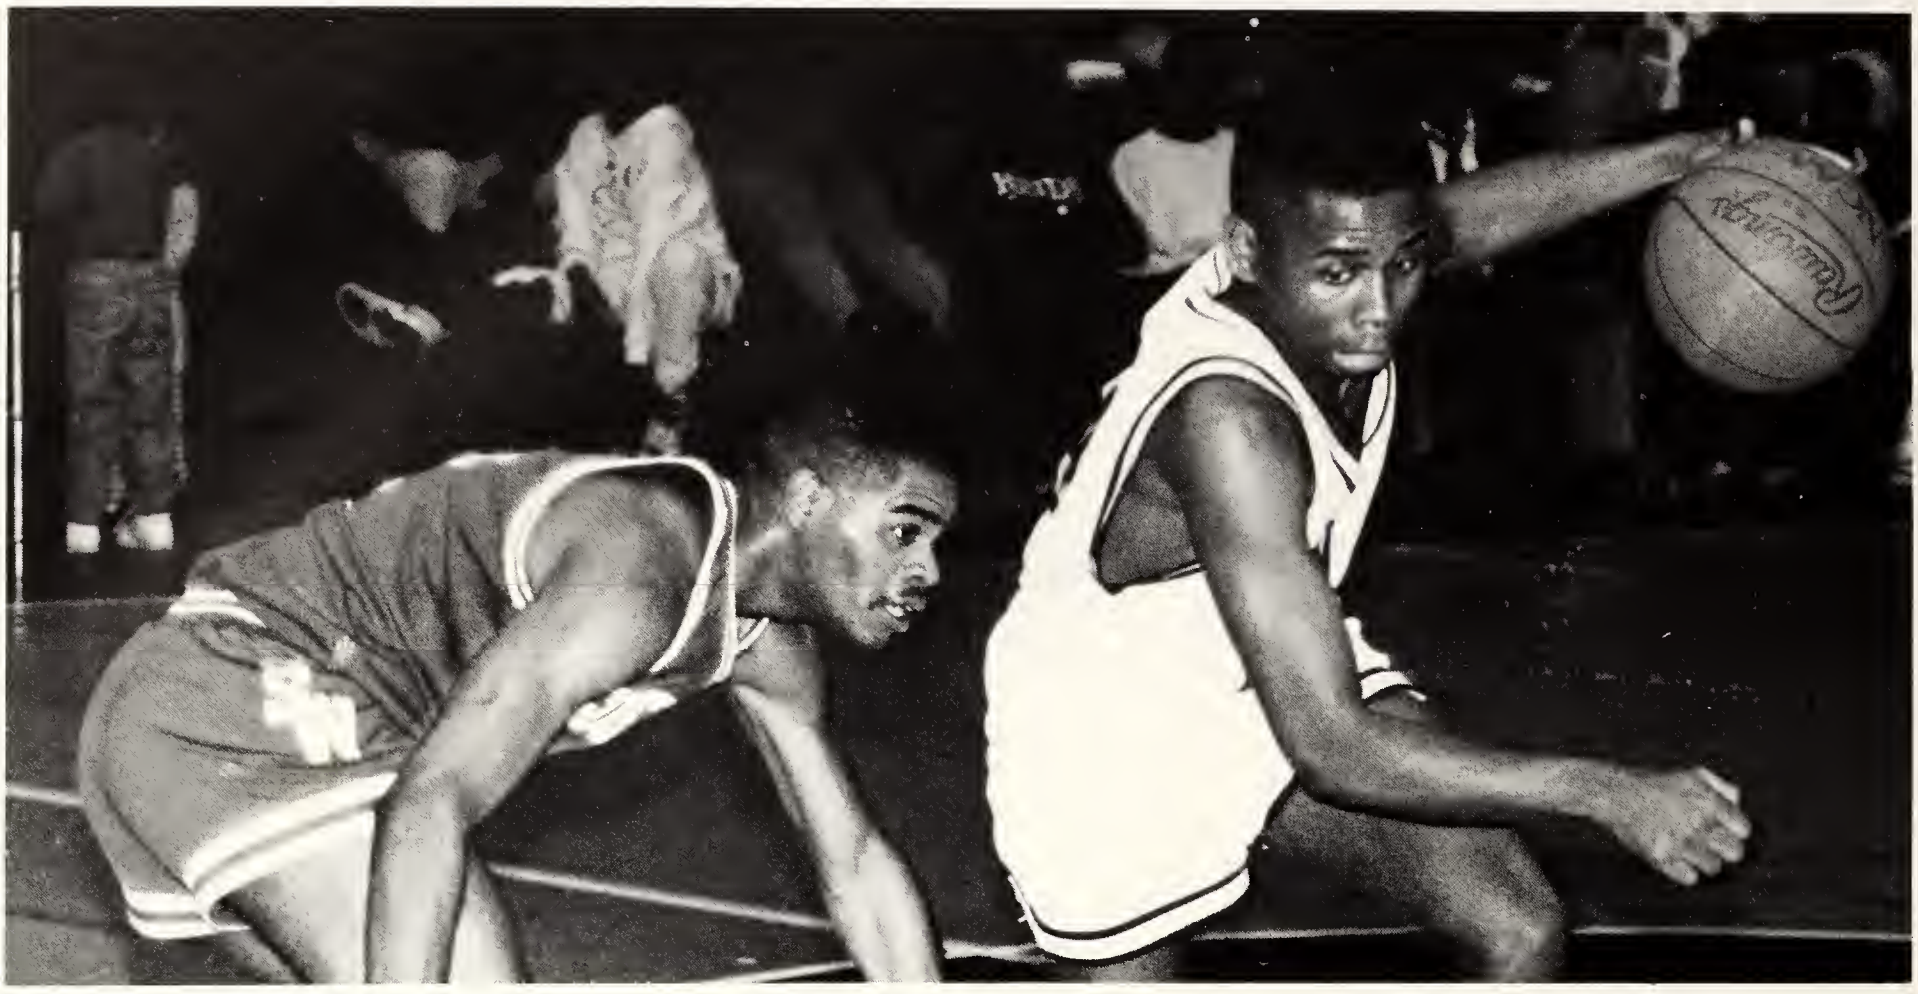


Nickoe finds a way to get around the opponent and goes up for two.

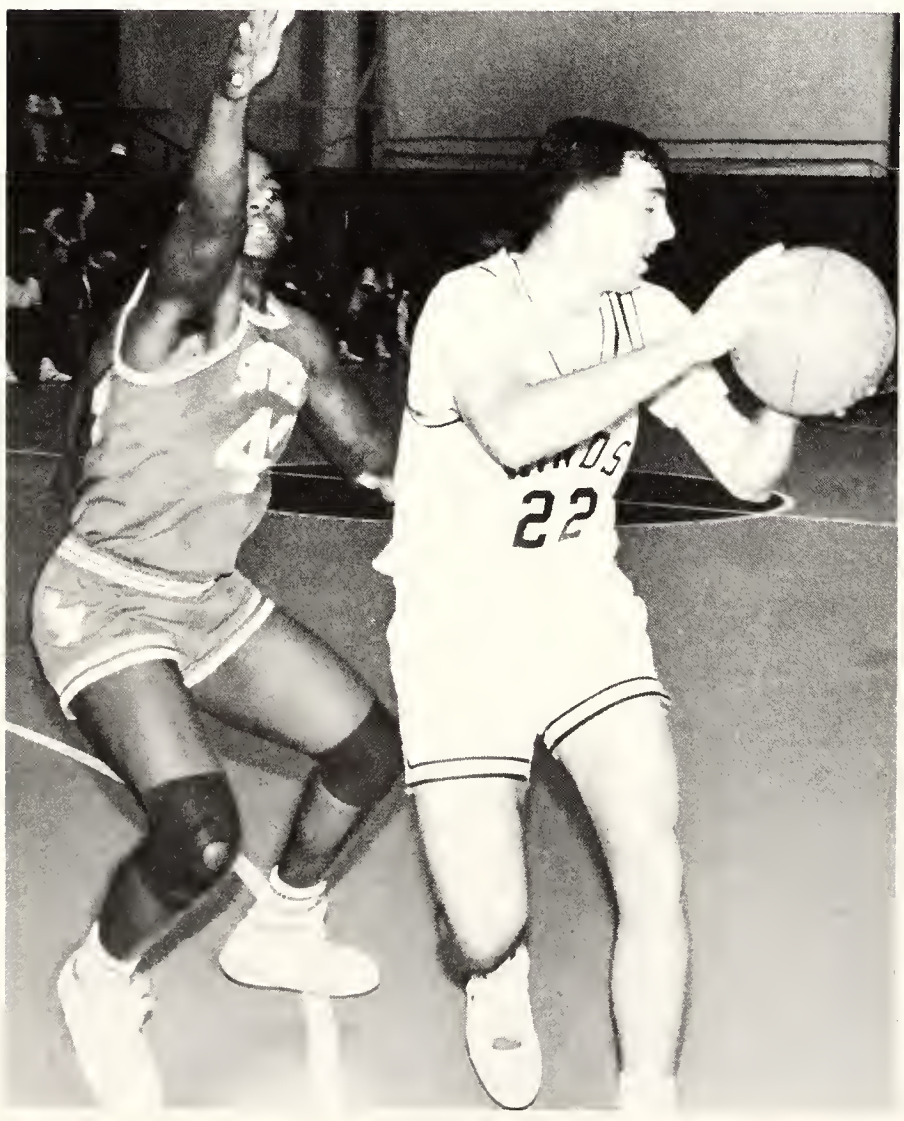
The Bulldogs get a few last minute pointers before the game.

The cheerleaders and tumblers show their support of the team with chants, cheers and acrobatic routines.

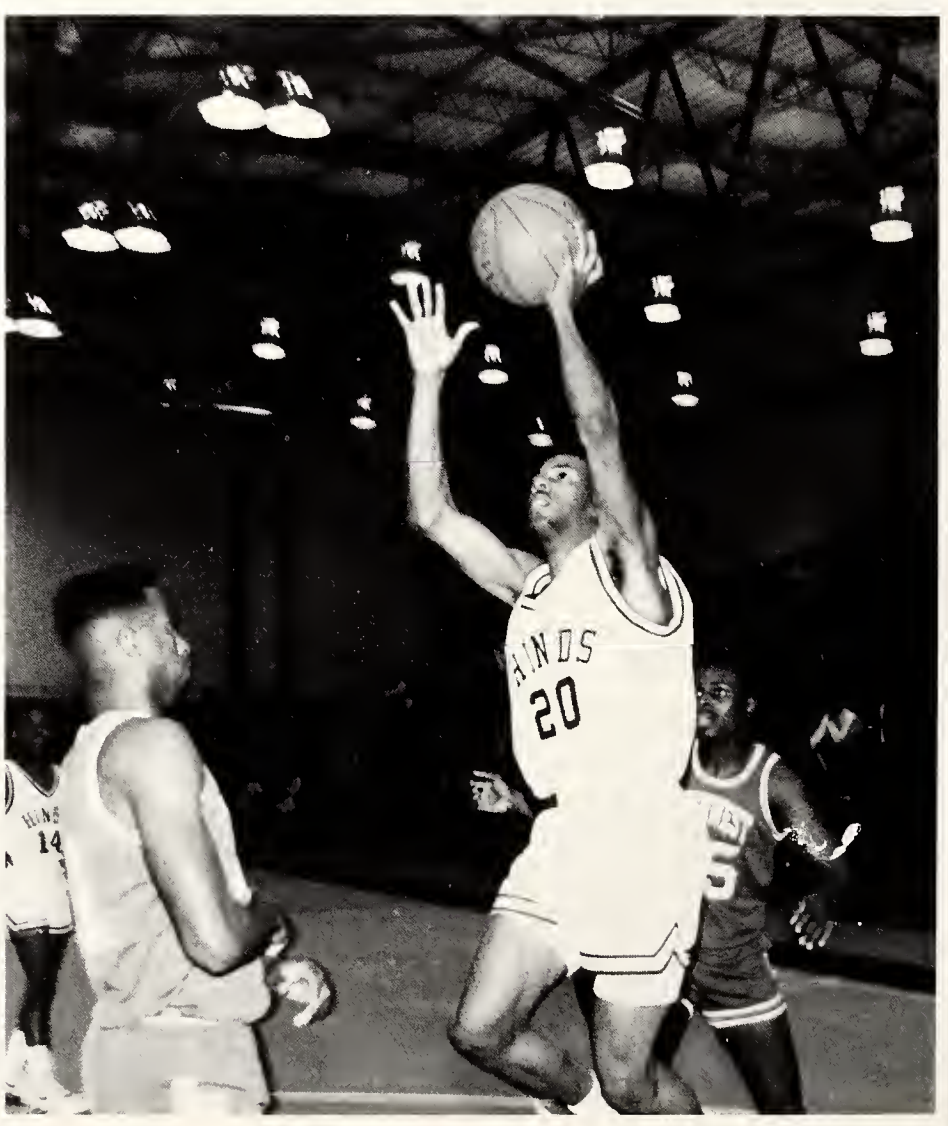
BULLDOGS vs SOUTHWEST



Sophomore guard, James Charles, manipulates the opponent.

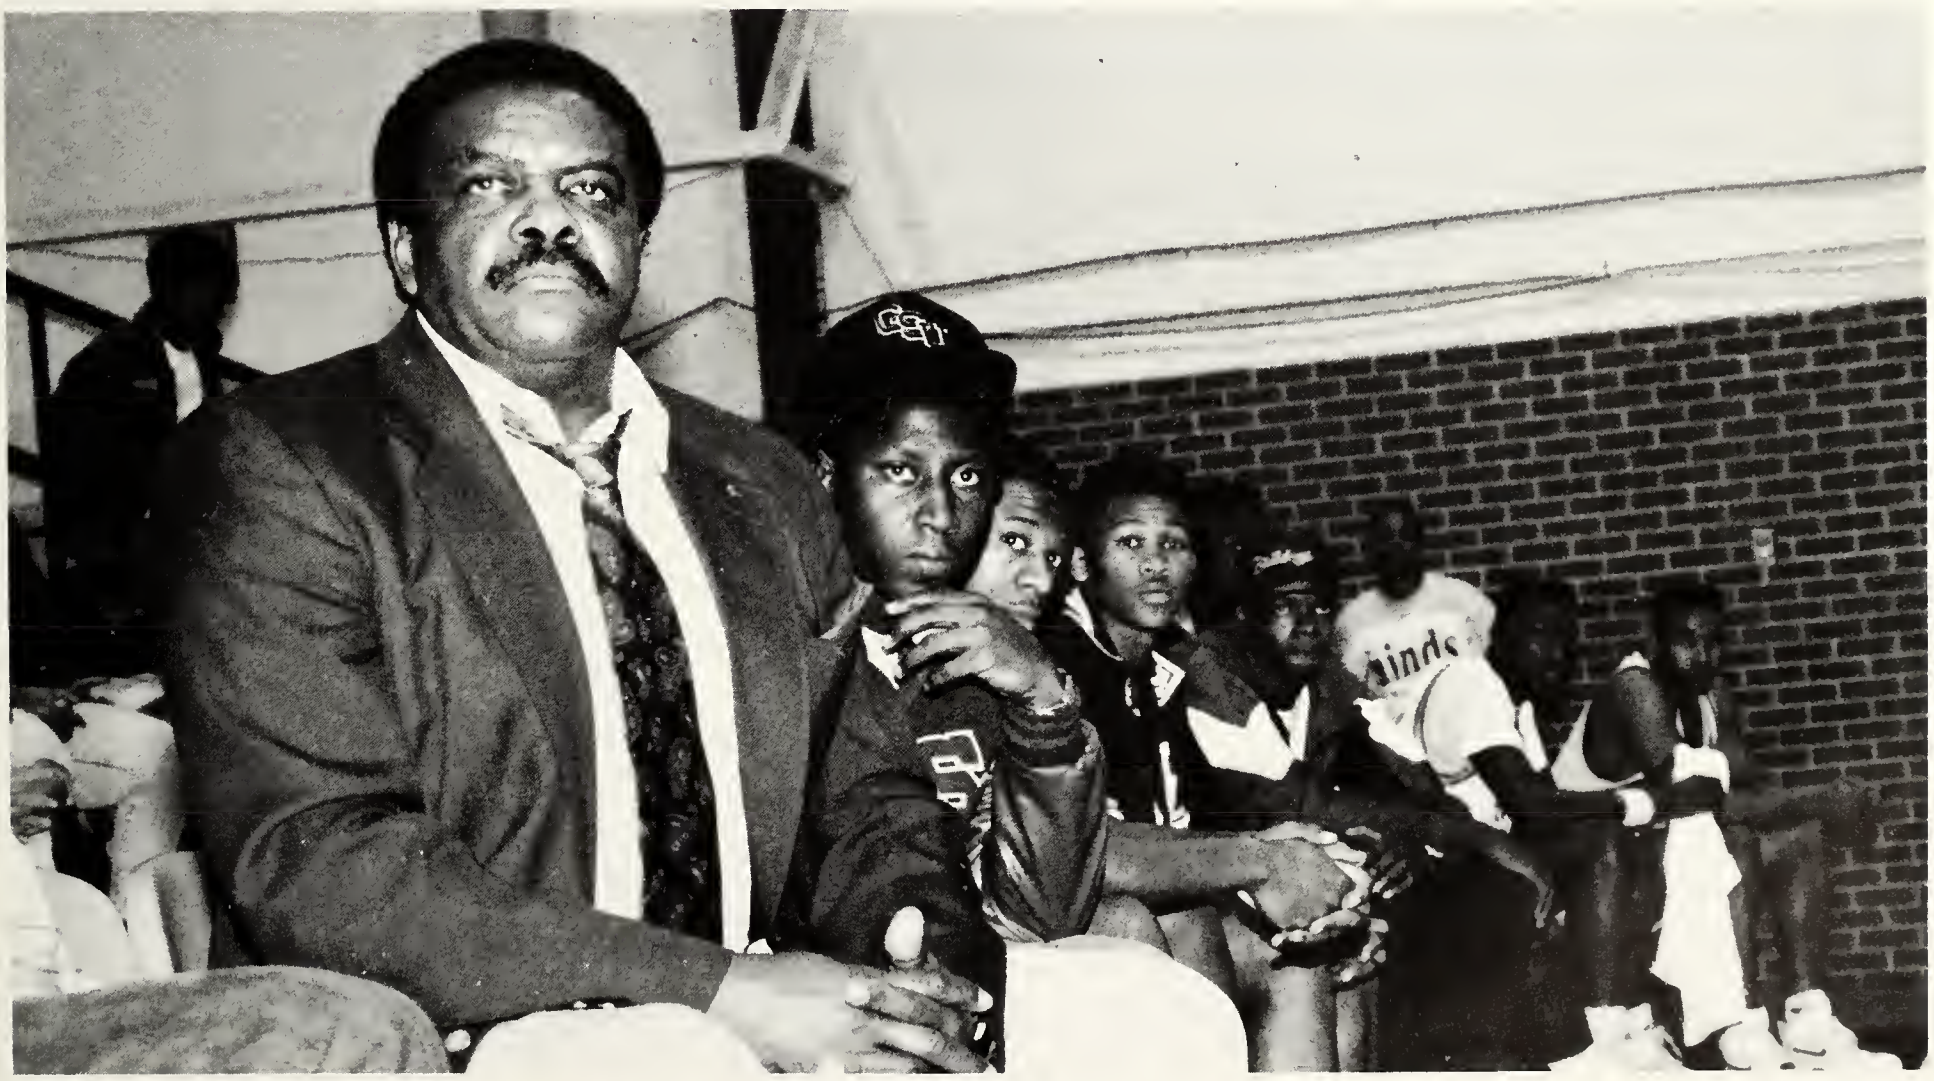


Brett Dykes works to remain in control of the ball.



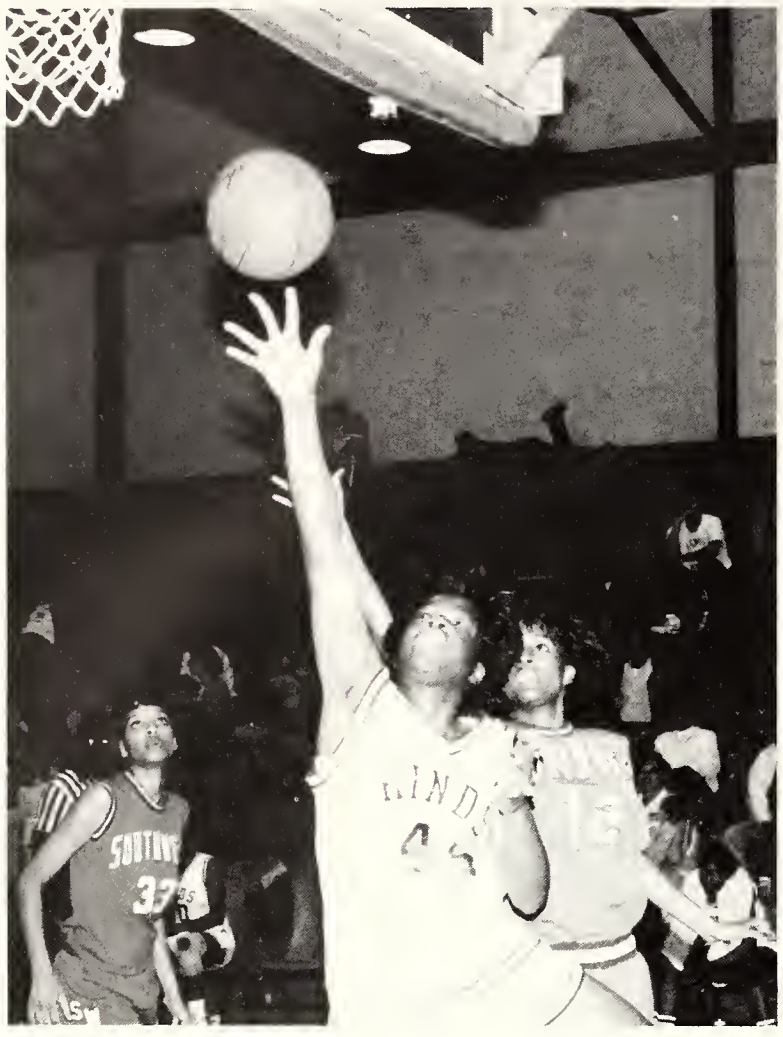
Nickoe Whitley gains control of the ball and goes up for two.

No. 30, Terrance Williams, moves in for an easy lay up.



Bulldogs Coach Joe Nelson, along with other teammates, look on as the Bulldogs go for another victory.

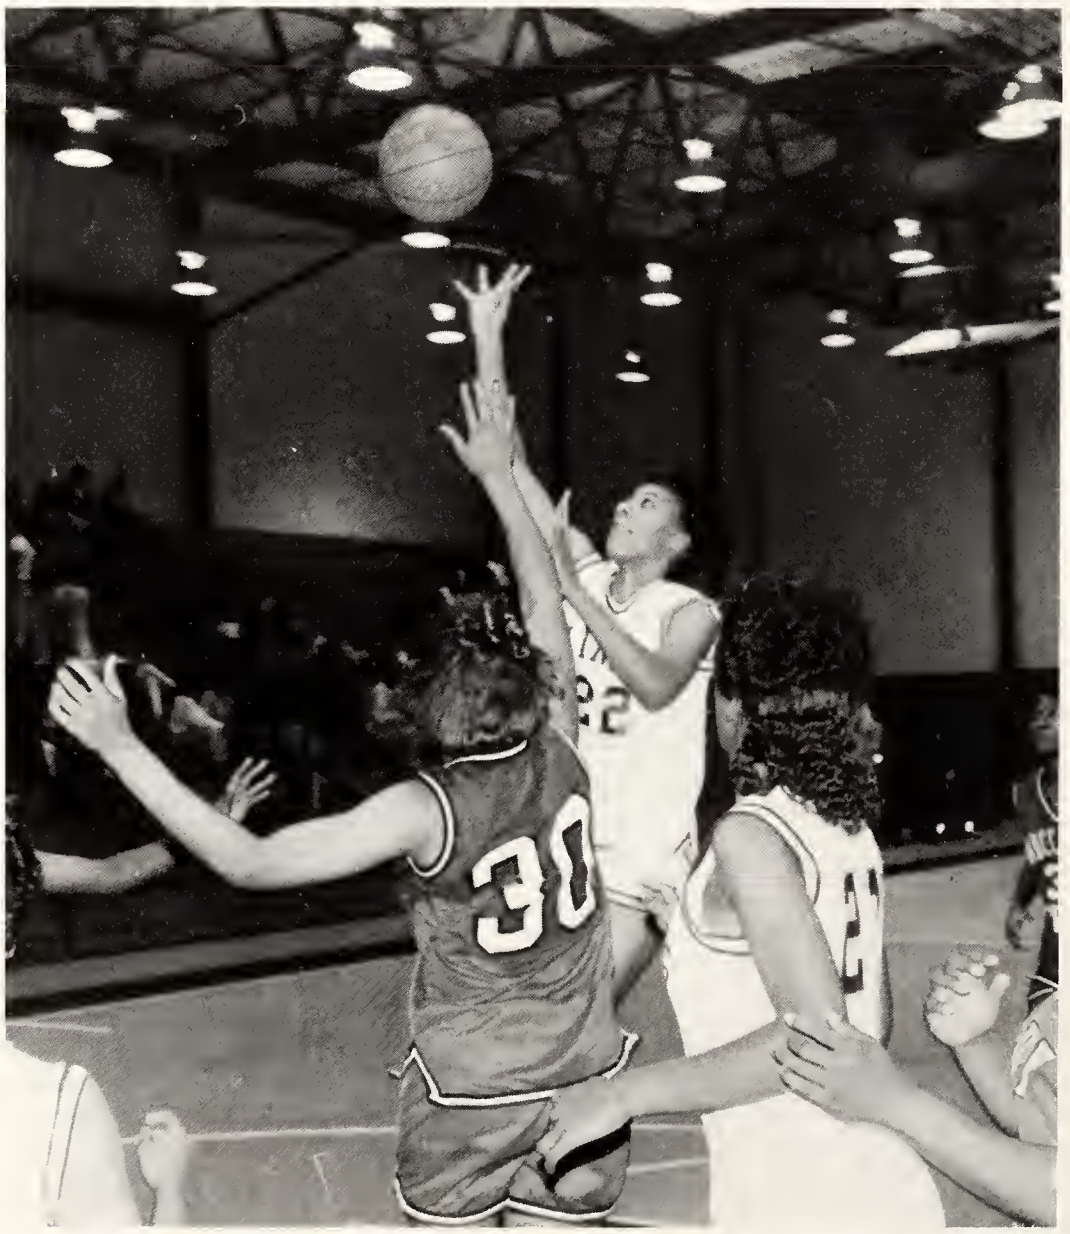
A WINNING TEAM



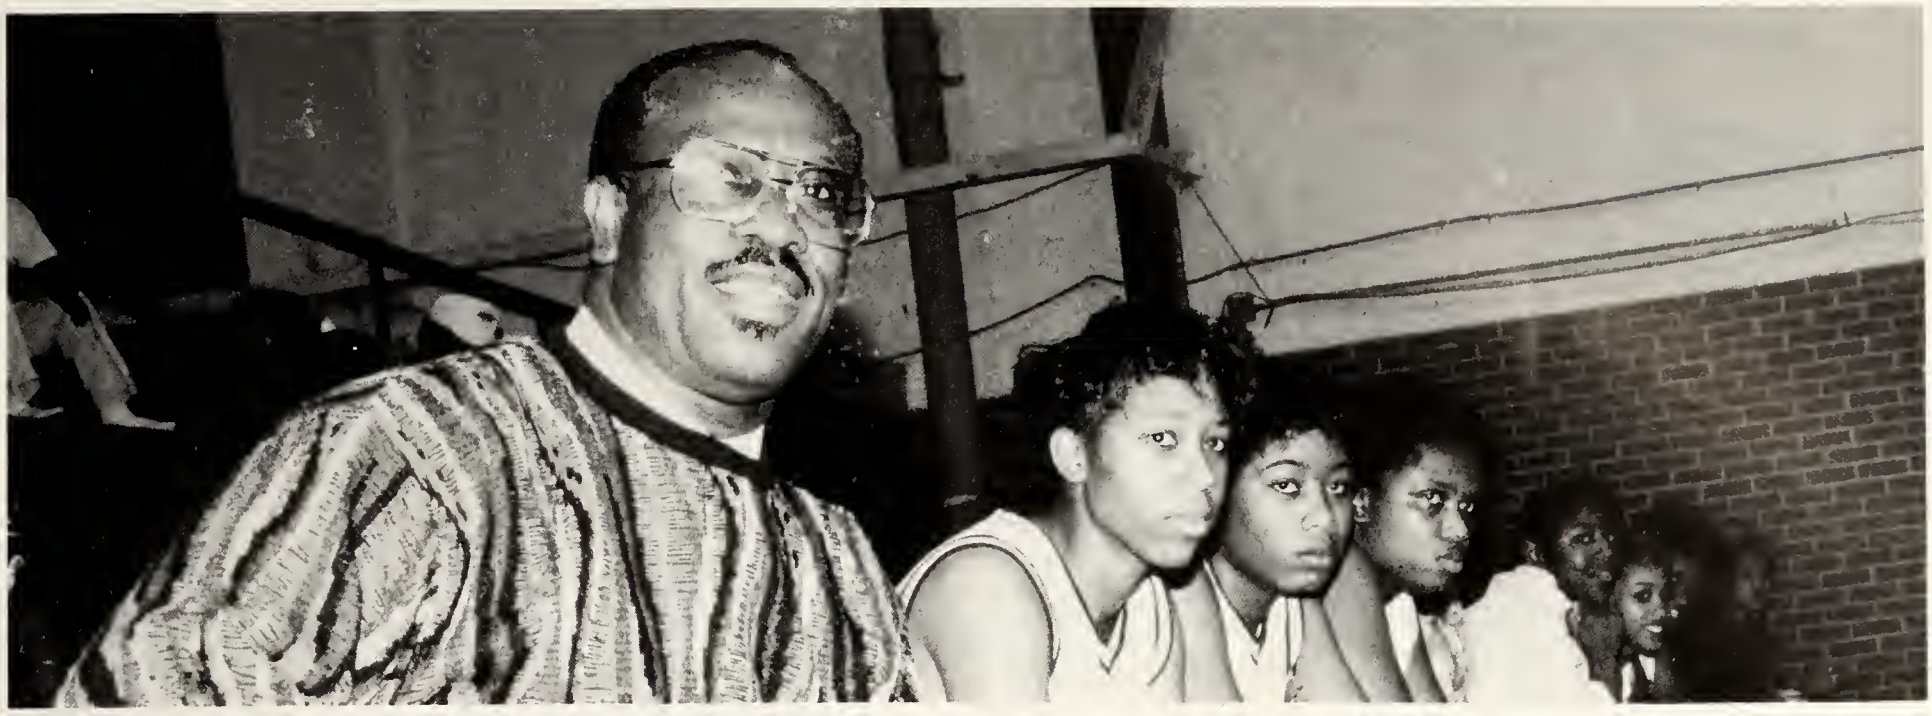
Sophomore forward, Donna Washington, overpowers the opponent for another lay up.

Gwen Wilson uses her height to make this jumpshot good.

Bulldog fans can expect two points when Zelda Bowman, "Lefty," has possession of the ball.



Tonya Graham displays her love for winning as she tries for two.



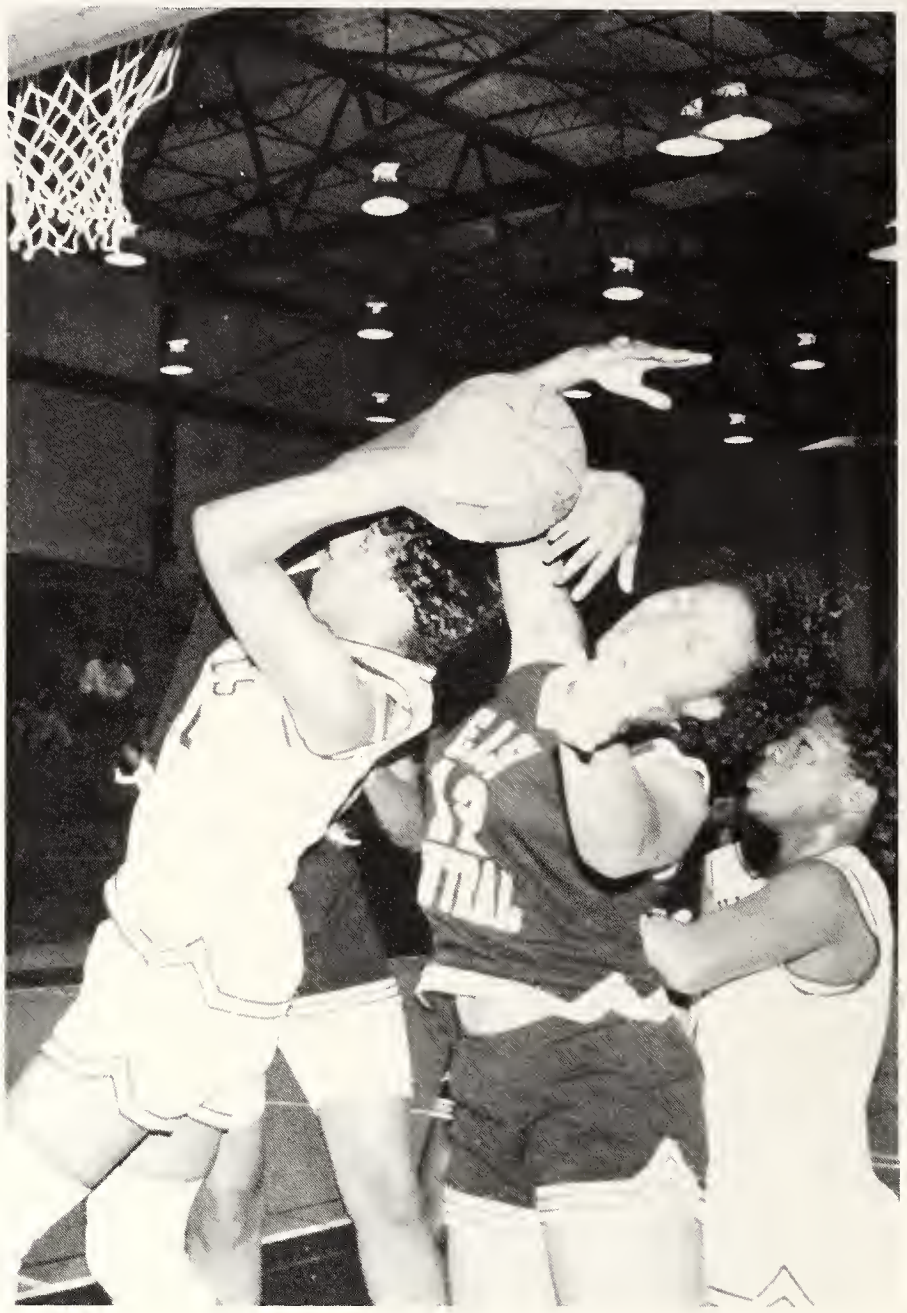
Lady Bulldogs Coach, Lester Owens, looks on with the assurance that the team will pull off a victory.

The Bulldogs have the support of their fans no matter where they are playing.

"Lefty" works at getting the ball down the court.

LADY BULLDOGS vs EAST CENTRAL

Gwen goes unopposed for the basket.



Tonya goes up for two.

Donna Washington tips the ball over the opponent's head and into the basket.

LADY BULLDOGS vs MISSISSIPPI DELTA

Zelda Bowman fakes the opponent, and passes the ball down the court for the easy basket.

Donna Washington uses her height to her advantage as she perfects her dunking skills.

Gwen Spann shoots the final two points of the game.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

"Mrs. Jackson was my instructor, friend and mentor. Her absence has left great sadness but her memories will be with me forever." Janice Berry, sophomore child care student.

"Mrs. Jackson was my colleague and friend. She was a kind and generous person who dedicated her life to her profession." Gloria Johnson, learning lab assistant.

"Mrs. Jackson was a dear friend who loved people but did not interfere in the affairs of others. She was a private person who was easy to communiciate with. I cherish the memories and miss her dearly." Willie Burnley, cosmetology instrutor.

"The instructor with the pleasant smile — Mrs. Jackson was my friend and colleague. I will always treasure the support she extended to me." Bessie Brown, English instructor.

"She taught beyond the printed pages." Dr. Eugene Gaston, dean of instruction.

From the delta flatlands of Coahoma County to the Yazoo soil of Hinds, Jackson has "touched the minds and souls of many students," says Dr. Gaston. She began her teaching career 28 years ago in the Coahoma Schoool Distirct. Taking her experience and "love for the teaching profession" south, Jackson began working in the Hazlehurst School District. After 10 years there, she began her 18-year career as a child care instructor at, the forme Utica Junior College, under the administration of President J. Louis Stokes.

Beyond the classroom, Jackson served as chairman of the Utica Campus courtesy and social committee, child care sponsor, and as member of the Founder's Day committee. Her civic and professional affiliations included Vocational Clubs of America, the Southern As sociation of Children Under Six, the Mississippi Association of Educators, the Hinds Community College Association of Educators, th NAACP, and many others.

Jackson received her elementary and secondary education in the Rankin County Public School District. She received her Bachelor o Science degree from Jackson State University and her Master of Science degree from Atlanta University.

Freddie Jean Cannon Jackson was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cannon of Braxton, Mississippi. She is also survived by tw sons, Tommy Duke Jackson, Jr. and Fredrick Wesley Jackson.

The Utica Campus family is proud to dedicate the 1991 Uticanite to Mrs. Freddie Jackson.
